Stealing easy, say detectives

About 175 merchants and their wives turned out Thursday at a Chamber of Commerce retail merchants meeting to hear discussions on shoplifting and recovering bad check losses.

Detective Dan Hinton and Sgt. Jack Patterson of the Sikeston police department showed how easy shoplifting is by stealing merchandise earlier and handing it back to the merchant during the meeting.

Hinton said 10 cents of every dollar spent for merchandise goes to shoplifting and theft prevention, and the loss is enough to hurt many small businesses.

One of every 10 customers is a potential shoplifter, Hinton said.

In 1974, Patterson said Sikeston police recovered more than $5,000 worth of shoplifted goods during arrests.

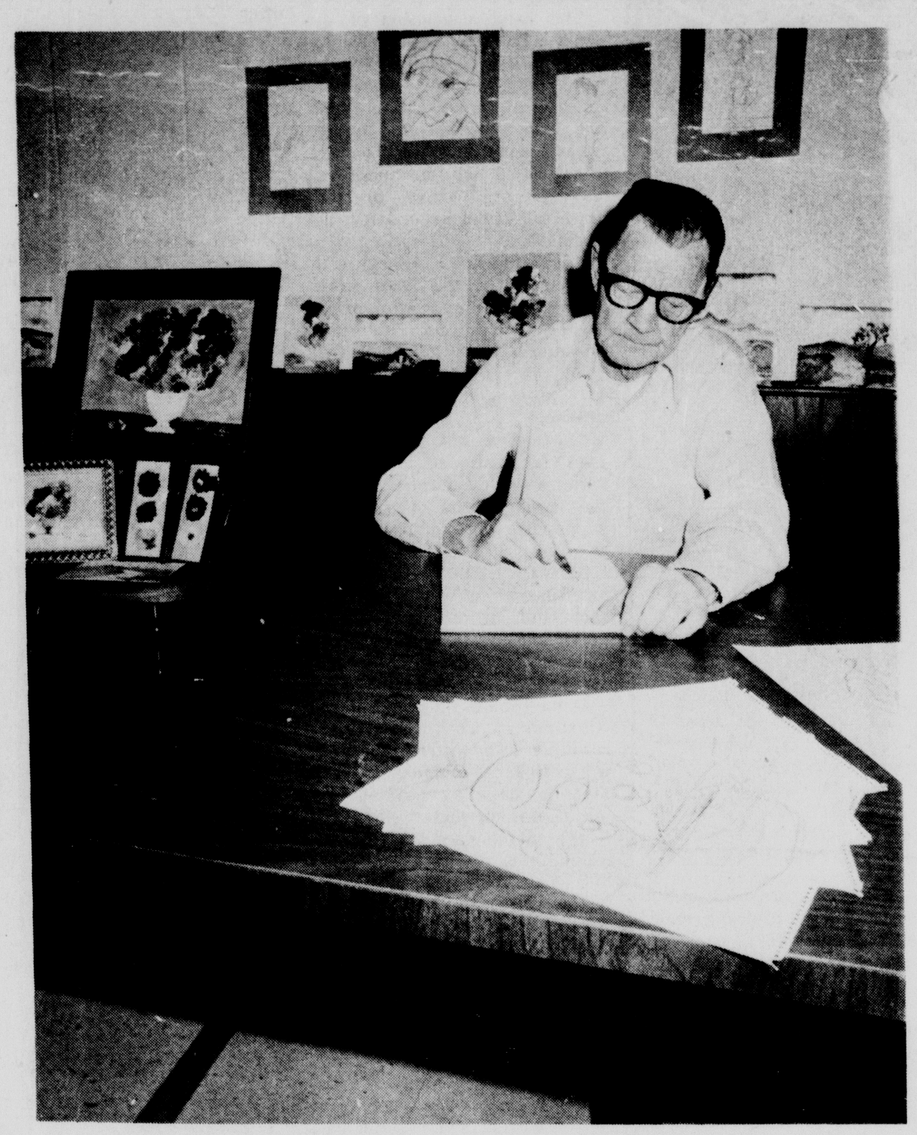

Security measures, such as guards, mirrors and keeping items under lock and key can help prevent shoplifting. If a shoplifter is caught, he may be detained until police arrive, Patterson said.

Patterson said the police department has received good cooperation from the merchants during the past few days.

The Scott County prosecuting attorney's office has begun a new method of losses on insufficient funds recovering checks.

Merchants now write a certified letter to the person who signed the check, requesting the money. If the merchant has not received his money after 10 days, the

Jobless rate remains same

WASHINGTON (a) — Another 540,000 workers lost their jobs in February, but the nation's unemployment rate remained the same as January's 8.2 per cent, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said that was because 580,000 persons stopped looking for jobs during February, meaning they were no longer counted in the labor force and thus were not included in the unemployment statistics.

Several administration economists had privately predicted the unemployment rate would increase in February for the seventh consecutive month, but they apparently had not anticipated the large number of work force dropouts.

The change in composition of the work force means that even though another 540,000 workers lost their jobs in February, the total number of jobless workers for statistical purposes remained the same as January at 7.5 million.

The total civilian labor force in February was 91.5 million, down from 92 million in January. The Labor Department said total employment was 84 million in February, down from about 84.6 million in January.

President Ford said Thursday night unemployment might hit nine per cent during the current recession, although he added that he doubted it would get so high.

The President also indicated he might consider new tax reductions, over what he has proposed, if more stimulus is needed to end the recession.

"If there is to be greater stimulus, I would certainly go for greater tax reductions than increased spending...," he said.

Ford also said the size of the tax cut is less important than "the slowness with which Congress is acting on it."

Since September of last year, employment has declined by 2.4 million, the largest five-month reduction in the post-war period, the Labor Department said. Unemployment was 5.2 per cent last June when it started the steady climb that peaked in January at 8.2 per cent.

While the over-all unemployment rate remained unchanged in February, the jobless rate for manufacturing workers was reported up for the ninth consecutive month, rising to a record 11 per cent. It was 10.5 per cent in January.

The government said the duration of unemployment for a jobless worker averaged 11.7 weeks in February, a full week more than in January and nearly two weeks more than in December.

Until January, unemployment in the United States had not been above 8 per cent since 1941, when the jobless rate in a work force of 55.9 million persons averaged 9.9 per cent for the entire year as the nation was coming out of the Depression.

Check is donated to port fund

BENTON — The Scott County Court Thursday presented a $500 check to Raymond Roth of Illmo, treasurer of the Southeast Missouri Regional Port Authority, as its share of seed money in a joint project with Cape Girardeau County to establish a port on the Mississippi River to serve the two counties.

The port authority board of commissioners decided last December to ask the County Courts of the two counties for $500 each to be placed in a checking account to be overseen by Roth.

The combined total of $1,000 would be used to cover initial miscellaneous expenses, such as having stationery printed, and would be distributed by the treasurer as needed.

The board designated Farmers and Merchants Bank of Cape Girardeau the depository for port authority funds.

The Scott County Court has budgeted $2,500 for financing of the project during 1975.

In other action Thursday, the court recommended that Emil Schuchart of Sikeston, Donald Beggs of Blodgett and Ronnie Burger of Illmo be appointed to the reactivated Scott County Johnson Grass Commission.

Presiding Judge Louie Hirschowitz of Oran said the appointments will be made through the state Department of Agriculture.

Speaking for the court, Hirschowitz said a committee from the Illmo-Scott City area is welcome to discuss placing an ambulance in one of the two cities with the Court.

A committee from the Illmo-Scott City area met last week with J. A. Chronister, chairman of the North Scott County Ambulance Service board of directors, and was told that one of the two cities will be considered if the city can provide a supply of trained drivers and attendants and receives approval by the County Court.

Love of Ozarks reflects in work

By PAT GROJEAN

The poet of the Gasconade River has moved to Sikeston.

Who is this famous poet? Well, like most of us, he is famous only to friends and acquaintances who gave him that title several years ago.

Herb Duncan, formerly of Poplar Bluff and now a Sikeston Convalescent Center resident, is not only a poet, but also a painter and cartoonist... and is a delight to those who know him and meet him.

Duncan's special love for the outdoors-- especially the Missouri Ozarks and the Gasconade River — is manifested in his poems and paintings. But, in Sikeston, this quiet man is known to fellow convalescent center residents mainly for his painting and cartoons.

A Granite City, Ill., native, Duncan, 60, is recovering from the effects of a light stroke he suffered while working as a game management agent for the U.S. Department of Interior Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife in Oshkosh, Wis. After the stroke, he and his wife, who is now dead, moved to Poplar Bluff to be near her parents.

Although it has always been a favorite hobby, Duncan now paints to pass the time as he recovers from a slight setback in his health. It may be just a way to pass the time to him, but to observers, watching him is a favorite pastime.

Staff members at the convalescent center report that patients drop into his room just to watch him paint the landscapes stored in his imagination. Although he is not bedridden, Duncan paints while sitting on the edge of his bed with a small easel set up on his bed stand.

A special delight to children (and adults) is "Mr. Herb, the cartoonist." Several weeks ago Duncan entertained children at Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic with his cartoons. Each child was asked to put his name on a piece of paper, along with a couple of lines, large or small, anywhere on the page. From these lines, Duncan drew a different cartoon figure for each child.

Watching Duncan take two lines and turn them into a cartoon character in less than a minute is uncanny. He said he doesn't know what the figure is going to look like when he starts... he just draws more lines.

The children were delighted. "They liked Herb better than the

Ferrell will not run

Frank Ferrell, who has been appointed mayor in each of the past three years while serving as a member of the Sikeston City Council, said today he cannot comply with the new campaign reform law and will not seek re-election.

The campaign reform act requires candidates to list their sources of income. Had he known the provisions of the campaign reform act 12 months ago, Ferrell said he could have made preparations to comply with the law.

Ferrell said his service as mayor has been a "great personal satisfaction to me. I'll still be available to help the city, county or state."

He said he did not intend to sit around the house and would remain active in politics.

Ferrell was elected to the council in 1972 and was elected mayor by the council that year and each succeeding year of his three-year term.

The filing deadline is Saturday at 5 p.m. for candidates seeking the two seats to be filled in this year's election on April 1. The other seat has been held by Bill Ryan.

Although the city administrative building will be closed Saturday, City Clerk Lynn Lancaster said he may be contacted through the police department if anyone wants to file.

Seven candidates had filed by this morning. Another potential candidate indicated he would wait until Saturday afternoon to decide whether to file.

VICA to host olympics

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America chapter at Sikeston Area Vocational School will host the annual southeast district skill olympics Saturday.

Seven area vocational schools will be represented by 250 students in 35 different contest categories.

In addition to Sikeston, schools represented will be Cape Girardeau, Kennett, New Madrid and Poplar Bluff Area Vocational Technical Schools; Current River Area Vocatoinal Technical School at Doniphan; and Poplar Bluff High School.

The Sikeston VICA club has 237 members and is the largest club in the southeast district.

The skill olympics, which begins at 8:30 a.m. with registration, will conclude after the presentation of awards program, scheduled at 2:45 p.m.

The contests are divided into two areas.

In the skills area, students are tested on the skills they have been

Baseball size hail reported

CLARKTON — Hail stones the size of golf balls and baseballs fell around the Gideon and Clarkton area early today.

Bud Hargraves, night marshal at Clarkton, described it this morning as "the biggest hail I've ever seen." Hargraves said baseball-sized hail fell for a brief period about 6:15 a.m. today. The only damage reported was a few broken window panes.

Lillian Brown, city tax collector, reported she saw hail the size of large hen eggs.

Gideon officials reported golf ball-sized hail stones that damaged cars, airplanes and probably roofs.

Lighter hail fell elsewhere in the area.

The hail was a part of a thunderstorm and wind cell that moved through Southeast Missouri early today.

House destroyed by small tornado

ST. LOUIS (AP)—One house was demolished and several others severely damaged when a small tornado touched down in a plush subdivision of south St. Louis County early today.

One house was completely flattened and the roof of anothdr was ripped off in the Blueberry Hill subdivision of suburban Mehlville when the twister descended shortly before 1:30 a.m. the National Weather Service said.

Authorities said one man was critically injured when he touched a fallen electrical wire, and three other persons suffered minor injuries as a result of the storm.

The damage was first believed to have been caused by 60-mile an hour winds accompanying a severe thunderstorm that swept through the area shortly after midnight.

But Weather Service officials, after inspecting the damage site, confirmed that a tornado had touched down.

Most of the damage, estimated to be at least $75,000, was confined to a two-block area near the junction of Interstates 270 and 55, although debris was scattered over six to eight blocks. An automobile was picked up and turned over by the funnel, authorities said.

"I'll tell you for sure it was a tornado," said Lt. William Cook, one of the first investigators to arrive. "There are all these houses on the south side of the street that aren't even damaged. And on the north side, they're torn up.

"I've seen damage from five tornados here in the last 20 years. High winds blow windows inward. But the windows on these house were blown out.

"One house was completely destroyed, except for the roof over one bedroom. Another had the roof over three bedrooms blown right off. I imagine when those people woke up, they saw nothing but rain."

More than 5,000 homes in Mehlville, Crestwod and Fenton were without power because of the storm, Union Electric spokesmen said.

Fallen power lines, tree limbs and minor gas leaks were reported throughout the area.

Fred J. Kimdt, 58, suffered severe burns when he touched a fallen power line while boarding up windows at his home, police said. He was listed in critical condition at St. John's Mercy Medical Center.

One woman was injured when she stepped on broken glass and her son stepped on a loose nail left by the winds, officers said. A second woman was hit by flying debris.

Police and cleanup crews continued to search the rubble left by the storm, but they said it was unlikely that any bodies would be found.

Officials in the area estimated that more than one inch of rain fell in a 30-minute period in south St. Louis County, although less than one-half inch was recorded at Lambert-St. Louis airport, about 30 miles north.

Ray seeks to set aside MSHSAA decision

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Central High ended a once-promising basketball season with a 59-57 regional tournament loss Thursday night, its official record 0-23 and its star player sidelined by an eligibility hassle.

The Cape Girardeau school played its final game with its leading scorer and rebounder, 6-10 senior Stanley Irvin Ray, locked in a battle with school officials and attorneys in an attempt allow him to play.

The game finished while school officials continued to debate the issue.

The youth had appealed to federal court Judge Elmo B. Hunter in Kansas City in a last-ditch attempt to get to play in the regionals here. Judge Hunter passed the matter to the board of education here, and they were still discussing the issue with attorneys when Poplar Bluff edged Central.

The judge may take up again Monday morning the question of whether Ray was illegally ruled ineligible under regulations of the Missouri State High School Activities Association. He put off his action with the understanding that Ray, who had been averaging more than 20 points and an equal number of rebounds per game, would be given a hearing at the school Thursday afternoon.

Last summer Ray attended a basketball camp in California directed by UCLA Coach John Wooden. And he played in the camp's Southern California High School Olympic Development League. California high school players do not lose their eligibility by competing in the league, but the MSHSAA says playing in the league violates its rule against organized competition outside high school jurisdiction.

The association advised Central High on Feb. 27 that Ray had violated the regulation. The school declared him ineligible and forfeited the 16 games it had won this season.

Ray's petition to the federal court alleged that the determination that he was ineligible was made without his being afforded the opportunity for a hearing. He said his right of due process guaranteed under the 14th Amendment had been violated.

It also alleged that the MSHSAA eligibility rule violates the equal protection law of the constitution and is therefore invalid.

The petition was filed in behalf of Ray by his mother, Mrs. Lois H. Ray of 1424 Howell, Cape Girardeau.

Newspaper publisher files for City Council position

Charles L. Blanton Jr., 657 N. Ranney St., announces his candidacy for a seat on the Sikeston City Council in the April 1 election.

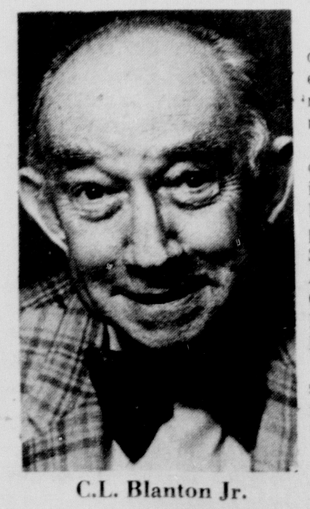

Blanton, 76, is the publisher of The Daily Standard.

He attended the University of Illinois and has received the Southern Illinois University Department of Journalism Master Editor Award of the Golden Em and the University of Missouri Distinguished Service in Journalism Award.

Blanton was recognized in 1968 by the president of Missouri Associated Dailies for distinguished and courageous editorial writing. Only two other newspapermen in the state received such an award.

Blanton has been active in community affairs all his life, including service for the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation, Chamber of Commerce, Scott County Tuberculosis Association, Sikeston Community Chest, Salvation Army, Sikeston March of Dimes and Scott County Board of Health.

In seeking election, Blanton said he wants the public to vote for him if they think he'll serve them well on the council.

The Cape Girardeau school played its final game with its leading scorer and rebounder, 6-10 senior Stanley Irvin Ray, locked in a battle with school officials and attorneys in an attempt allow him to play.

The game finished while school officials continued to debate the issue.

The youth had appealed to federal court Judge Elmo B. Hunter in Kansas City in a last-ditch attempt to get to play in the regionals here. Judge Hunter passed the matter to the board of education here, and they were still discussing the issue with attorneys when Poplar Bluff edged Central.

The judge may take up again Monday morning the question of whether Ray was illegally ruled ineligible under regulations of the Missouri State High School Activities Association. He put off his action with the understanding that Ray, who had been averaging more than 20 points and an equal number of rebounds per game, would be given a hearing at the school Thursday afternoon.

Last summer Ray attended a basketball camp in California directed by UCLA Coach John Wooden. And he played in the camp's Southern California High School Olympic Development League. California high school players do not lose their eligibility by competing in the league, but the MSHSAA says playing in the league violates its rule against organized competition outside high school jurisdiction.

The association advised Central High on Feb. 27 that Ray had violated the regulation. The school declared him ineligible and forfeited the 16 games it had won this season.

Ray's petition to the federal court alleged that the determination that he was ineligible was made without his being afforded the opportunity for a hearing. He said his right of due process guaranteed under the 14th Amendment had been violated.

It also alleged that the MSHSAA eligibility rule violates the equal protection law of the constitution and is therefore invalid.

The petition was filed in behalf of Ray by his mother, Mrs. Lois H. Ray of 1424 Howell, Cape Girardeau.

Ferrell will not run

Frank Ferrell, who has been appointed mayor in each of the past three years while serving as a member of the Sikeston City Council, said today he cannot comply with the new campaign reform law and will not seek re-election.

The campaign reform act requires candidates to list their sources of income. Had he known the provisions of the campaign reform act 12 months ago, Ferrell said he could have made preparations to comply with the law.

Ferrell said his service as mayor has been a "great personal satisfaction to me. I'll still be available to help the city, county or state."

He said he did not intend to sit around the house and would remain active in politics.

Ferrell was elected to the council in 1972 and was elected mayor by the council that year and each succeeding year of his three-year term.

The filing deadline is Saturday at 5 p.m. for candidates seeking the two seats to be filled in this year's election on April 1. The other seat has been held by Bill Ryan.

Although the city administrative building will be closed Saturday, City Clerk Lynn Lancaster said he may be contacted through the police department if anyone wants to file.

Seven candidates had filed by this morning. Another potential candidate indicated he would wait until Saturday afternoon to decide whether to file.

Newspaper publisher files for City Council position

Charles L. Blanton Jr., 657 N. Ranney St., announces his candidacy for a seat on the Sikeston City Council in the April 1 election.

Blanton, 76, is the publisher of The Daily Standard.

He attended the University of Illinois and has received the Southern Illinois University Department of Journalism Master Editor Award of the Golden Em and the University of Missouri Distinguished Service in Journalism Award.

Blanton was recognized in 1968 by the president of Missouri Associated Dailies for distinguished and courageous editorial writing. Only two other newspapermen in the state received such an award.

C.L. Blanton Jr.

Blanton has been active in community affairs all his life, including service for the Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation, Chamber of Commerce, Scott County Tuberculosis Association, Sikeston Community Chest, Salvation Army, Sikeston March of Dimes and Scott County Board of Health.

In seeking election, Blanton said he wants the public to vote for him if they think he'll serve them well on the council.

NOTED AND PASSED...

—Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's new book, When the Calf Horns the Oak, should be a blockbuster. Just off the press in Paris, and due to be published in English later this year, the true-life story is said to drop a lot of hot Russian names, including some of the tyrants still in power today. There will be much speculation on what Solzhenitsyn has written about Comrade Mikhail Suslov. Suslov is believed to be one of the most sinister Reds in the Kremlin, and is also considered to be the leading anti-Semite in the USSR. There will be much note-comparing when the book appears.

—Speaking of Communism: it is interesting to read that one of the oldest and most notorious of all the subversive organizations in the country is still flourishing — the "Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade." On February 16 the "Veterans" tossed a $15 per plae "birthday luncheon" for aging Communist Party member Steve Nelson in a posh New York hotel. The "lunch" boasted a list of Sponsors that read like the Who's Who in the Red Front Network in the United States. Wonder how many of the sponsors were working for the FBI and-or CIA? We sure hope that some of our spies were keeping an eye on these self-declared enemies of America.

BICENTENNIAL RESTORATION

America's Bicentennial is expected to be in sharp contrast to her 100th anniversary in 1876, when Philadelphia staged a world's fair that highlighted the nation's technological progress and prowess.

The 1876 festival awed Americans with such inventions as the 40-foot-high, 700-ton Corliss steam engine, the first electric light and the telephone. For 50 cents, a visitor could have a letter tapped out to a friend on the newfangled typewriter. Women, still largely limited to home and hearth, welcomed the Singer sewing machine and an automatic baby feeder (whatever happened to that?)

Lack of money and rivalry between cities and states have ruled out another fair on the 1876 scale. Present indications are that observances of the Bicentennial in 1976 will, for the most part, skip the wonders of 20th-century technology and concentrate on nostalgia and restoration.

The energy crisis, inflation, recession and other economic ills seem to have given rise to a desire among many Americans to recapture our roots.

In keeping with this mood, one of the nation's oldest firms, Bird & Son, Inc., of East Walpole, Mass., manufacturer of roofing, siding and industrial machinery, has launched a program of providing financial assistance to historical restoration and preservation projects throughout the United States.

Matching grants of up to $5,000 will be considered for any project "designed to improve the exterior of historic properties ... to make them more accessible, understandable or environmentally compatible to the public they serve."

"A ghost town in Utah has as much chance of receiving assistance as a salt box on Cape Cod," says Ralph E. Heim, president of the firm that was founded in 1795. "In fact, we hope that groups from every state and region will apply for funds."

So far, he says, more than 300 requests have been received.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO ENGLISH?

At their annual convention in New Orleans, members of the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) decided that the new English usage section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test is "linguistically invalid" and should be dispensed with.

As reported by Education USA newsletter, the teachers agreed that the new test attempts to "limit students' linguistic expression to an arbitrarily established correct form."

Horror of horrors. But that's not all. This "superficial concept of 'correctness'" is racially and socially biased, the NCCTE found, because it excludes the dialects of millions of students. This is especially distressing since the new test is used around the country to determine college admissions and placement in English courses.

Shakespeare. Bye-bye Declaration of Independence and Gettysburg Address. Junk everything else that represents an "arbitrarily established" literary standard and "superficial concept of 'correctness.'" And we certainly can't deny anyone college admission just because he don't talk English so good, or expect him to take a remedial rather than an advanced English course.

Whatever happened to the "quest for excellence" the educators were urging on us a few years back? Obviously, it ain't no more.

JUMPING THE SENIORITY GUN

There is certainly nothing illegal about the resignation of Ohio Democratic Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum and the appointment by Gov. John J. Gilligan of Senator-elect John Glenn to replace him, thus giving Glenn a week or so of seniority over the other incoming freshmen senators.

Nor in the similar case of Sen. Paul Laxalt, newly elected Nevada Republican, who actually beat Glenn by a few days by virtue of being appointed to fill the seat of resigned Sen. Alan Biable.

The prerogative of governors to fill congressional vacancies created by death or resignation is clearly stated in the Constitution. Metzenbaum himself had been appointed by Gilligan earlier this year to finish the term of Sen. William B. Saxbe, who resigned to become attorney general, and many Democrats had begun urging Metzenbaum's resignation in favor of Glenn almost the day after the latter's overwhelming election victory in November.

Indeed, some of them immediately began talking about Glenn as vice presidential and even presidential timber in 1976.

Yet there is something slightly extra legal about the tactic. It is a clever end run around the Constitution, in the spirit if not in the letter.

Glenn and Laxalt were elected by the people of Ohio and Nevada to begin serving in the 94th Congress, which convenes on Jan. 3, 1975, not in the last days of the 93rd. About the only advantages he will gain by his "seniority" will be in the selection of offices in Washington and perhaps a better chance at the committee assignments of his choice.

Metzenbaum had initially resisted the urgings that he resign, arguing thtat it would be unfair to other newly elected senators. It is just that, and it is to be hoped that the Glenn and Laxalt cases will not become the practice, with state parties scrambling and dickering after every election to get their boys down to Congress ahead of the pack.

Perhaps it won't. If anything is difficult to pry loose from Washington it is your lame-duck congressman, who is wont to savor every moment remaining in his term. Perhaps these are special cases.

But it hass been over 10 years since John Glenn first tried for the Senate. That's a lot of seniority that might have been. If the vote of confidence given him by Ohioans in November is an indication of the future, he will be in public office for a lot longer than that. It's too bad he, as well as Laxalt, couldn't have wited a few more days to start.

Security comes in many different forms and most of them are desirable. There is an odd thing about security, though. I is the product of risk — yet risk is the opposite of security. In searching for security, don't go to the people who are looking for the same thing. Go to those who are risk-takers, not security-seekers. To start every business, some man had to put his resources on the line — his ideas, energy, lots of time, and his money, probably down to the last cent. There is never a "sure thing."

PRICE OF OIL SECURITY SURPASSES BENEFITS

The talk now in Washington is all about energy conservation and how best to persuade — or force — Americans to cut their consumption, especially of gasoline.

According to a just-released study commissioned by the American Enterprise Institute, a publicly supported, nonpartisan research and educational organization, one of the most sensible steps the nation could take would be to start stockpiling crude oil to reduce the risks and costs of future oil embargoes.

The United States alone among major industrial nations has no provision for stockpiling crude oil beyond normal inventories, state the authors of "Energy-Self-Sufficiency: An Economic Evaluation," prepared by the Energy Laboratory of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

If the United Staates required oil companies to maintain stockpiles, as do European countries, the costs to the companies would rise about 25 cents a barrel. A stockpile that would cover the United States against a one-year embargo by Arab sources would cost about $900 million annually.

But even the cost of a stockpile of sufficient size to hold the nation against an embargo for theee years "compares favorably" with the alternative of trying to develop totally domestic sources of energy.

The basic conclusion of the study is that the cost of security is too high if it is sought solely by eliminating imports. The authors present estimates showing that the two justicications for independence from foreign sources — avoiding oil blackmail and cutting energy costs — are contradictory if the target date is the early 1980s.

"Achieveing U.S. energy self-sufficiency by the 1980s would alsmost certainly mean mnuch higher prices for American consumers than a policy that relied on some imported oil," says project director Edward J. Mitchell.

"In other words, the premium paid for national energy insurance would exceed the cost of the damages the insurance is supposed to protect us against."

At the time of the Aaron Burr-Alexander Hamilton duel, resulting in the latter's death, it was considered unthinkable for a man to refuse to meet a challenge for such an encounter. However, this event changed the general attitude toward duelling, at least throughout the Northeastern part of the Nation. In the South and West it continued to be an accepted phase of the "gentleman's code of honor" for two or three decades longer.

When the motion picutre, "Tom Sawyer", was planned, the logical location for the "shooting" was Hannibal, Mo., where Mark Twain lived as a boy. That river city, however, had become entirely too modern, so the town of Arrow Rock, Mo., little changed from the boyhood days of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, was selected.

"Enlightened" attention must be paid to the traditional methods of keeping the "books" of business, Robert G. Skinner, partner, Ernst & Ernst, Cleveland told Tax Foundation's 26th National Conference.

NOT UNSINKABLE

One of the greatest maritime tragedies of all time was the sinking of the "unsinkable" Titanic. The contributing factor to the tragedy was no doubt the refusal of hundreds of passengers to accept the obvious fact that their unsinkable ship was sinking -- mortally damaged by a collision with an iceberg.

In some respects, the attitude of people toward today's energy crisis resembles those lost souls on the Titanic. They think they are passengers on an unsinkable energy-based civilization. They insist on riding the ship of energy abvundance at top speed into the twilight of energy scarcity, with no thought to the warnings of knowledgeable people who try to tell them of the figurative icebergs that threaten disaster. Electric companies that advertise the necessity of expanding electric power generating facilities, of increaseing rates to attract investment capital, and to defray the costs of inflation and pollution control while at the same time meeting exploding energy demands are frequently discredited as mere self-interested promoters. The reality of energy requirements that provide the secure hull in which our civilization lives is often discounted -- thanks to the "unsinkable" complex that seems to guide the pens of many writers and speakers when it comes to discussing energy.

Instead of trying to "... mislead the American public into a crisis attitude," as some cynics claim, the investor-owned electric companies and other elements of the energy industries are striving to show that the ship of energy is not unsinkable. That, in fact, intelligent handling is necessary to keep it afloat. Also, it is well to remember that in the case of energy there are no handy lifeboats.

MORE FROM LESS

A leading forest industry official, in describing advancing production technology of the wood products industry, opens up startling new vistas of the future so far as laymen unfamiliar with the forest industryare concerned. Most public attention has been concentrated on what companies are doing solely in such matters as pollution control. In this regard, the timber industry has made substantial progress. It spent $1 billion prior to 1972 in cleaning up mill operations. It will be spending about $1.1 billion in the 1972-1974 period on air, water and solid waste control.

But this is only part of the story -- and a somewhat negative part at that. The main goal of tomorrow's wood products industry is the development of technology which will achieve maximum utilization of every tree that comes out of our forest lands. In short, the idea is to eliminate waste which, of itself, eliminates many environmental problems. For example, today half of the total raw material for the pulp and paper portion of the forest products industry comes from the use of waste materials. As the industry authority points out, "Many of the new mills in the industry ... are designed to use nothing but such wastes." Moreover, new forest technology is rapidly improving wood utilization. In the state of Washington, overall harvest colume during a 10-year period has increased by 46 percent while harvest acreage has declined 8 percent -- in other words, a 59 percent increase in yield of wood per acre has been achieved, largely through the introduction of new technology and equipment to retrieve lumber and plywood from small sized and low-grade material.

Here is an example of how the combination of private enterprise and technology is quietly working toward genuine conservation, wise utilization of resources and an acceptable environment. In achieving these goals, spectacular and costly pollution control projects, worthy as they are, will prove to have little practical, long-run value unless they help us produce, in an economically feasible manner, the amenities and necessities of life that people must have to live in our 20th Century civilization.

Reverse Discrimination? Govt. Survey Shows Black Workers Moving Ahead of Regular Unionists

(Last of a three-part series)

SEATTLE — If ever there will be a national black labor movement voluntarily independent of massive traditionally and preponderantly white unions, it will have begun here.

Of course the competition for construction jobs back Eaast Harlem, Boston, Newark and in the District of Columbia's "Metro" have hit the headlines harder. But here the black community has its own United Construction Workers Assn. over on 14th Avenue functioning as, its leaders say, "the most successful indigenous community job referral center for minorities."

As employment gets tighter, as firms such as Boeing lay off more men, as projects are cut by the government, there is understandable resentment by white workers over having to yield their place on the hiring lines to blacks and Chicanos.

As one crosses this land, no one can ignore that reality. Here in the Northwest the angry are quiet spoken -- but quite outspoken. Actually the director of the United Construction Workers Assn., Tyree C. Scott, is as tough a militant as anyone has covered anywhere. He has led demonstrations, sit-downs, lay-ins and stall-ins. He has defied prison sentences for some of this construction disruption. But basically the association's success is due first to the federal courts, and second, but not least by any means, it is due to the support of the U.S. Labor Department's Office of Federal Contract Compliance (OFCC) of the Employment Standards Administratin, headed by Assistant Secretary of Labor Bernard DeLuey, a former union official.

The OFCC director here works closely with the black hiring hall. Thus it has kept apace of the goals, or quotas, set in Washington.

Displaced white workers -- some of them in government employ but leapfrogged by minority men and women -- bitterly call this "reverse discrimination."

Actually, according to the first statistical OFCC report issued under new regulations, black workers have done better than any other minority in "new hires," as well as in growing proportion of those working for firms which do more than $50,000 worth of business with the federal government.

This newly available report developed by on-site (could also be called on-sight) inspection, shows that in 1974 better than one out of every four "new hires" was a minority worker. The actual figure is 26.4 per cent.

The goal -- or quotta-- for 1975 "new minority hires" is 31.2 per cent of all the new hires. This begins to approach one out of every three new workers who will be taken on before Jan. 1, 1976.

So much for the "new hires" by the 655 government-serving firms sampled by the OFCC. In all they employ some 300,000 workers.

There's another socially vital statistic -- the increasing percentage of minority workers among the entire working force of these firms which do federally funded or federally assisted work In 1973 the minority workess held 14.3 per cent of all the jobs. In 1974 the figure was 15 per cent. Under the government's "affirmative action" program this total is expected to reach 17.1 per cent during 1975.

This makes it just a bit better than one minority worker out of every six employes. The quota for 1976 will be higher.

The unique report discloses that blacks fared better than Hispanic Americans. Ther was little change in the employment rate of Orientals and American Indians in the surveyed firms. Because women's jobs remained mostly clerical, the new year's affirmative action program will push them into professional and technical jobs.

But remember, every statistic is a human being -- the ones employed as well as the ones displaced or unable to find work because of the affirmative action under the equal employment program.

Further, the traditional labor movement has another anxiety. Their lawyers have been watching the Supreme Court, to which the NAACP has appealed for a ruling on the legality of what's called the first firing of the las hired where it involves black workers. The action has been brought in behalf of two black Wisconsin bricklayers.

The NAACP is saying, in effect, the old existing seniority lists are not valid since most of the older workers are white. Blacks, they say, were the most recently hired Thusthey are first to be fired during layoffs.

Should the Supreme Court uphold this theory the whole tradition of American trade unionism will be ripped open. We may then see strikes and counterstrikes.

A swift end to the recession would help. But it's been a long time since manna fell from heaven.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON--Richard Nixon, living in lonely splendor in his California seacoast estate, isn't exactly a poverty case.

He has drawn hundreds of thousands of dollars from the taxpayers to help ease the shock of being reduced to civilian status. He collects a $60,000 annual presidential pension. He is attended by aides, at an additional cost to the taxpayers of $96,000 a year.

Yet the former President is deeply depressed over his finances . Close friends say he isn't taking in enough cash to meet his obligations. They claim his personal bank account is down to $5500 and he has only $2,800 left to operate the San Clemente estate until July 1.

Even minor expenditures, such as an eastern trip his wife is planning to take next month, now cause a family budget problem, a friend told us.

Nixon paid off his back taxes with a $284,740 check which cleaned out his reserves, intimates say. He can't afford to pay an additional $148,000 tax debt, which is no longer collectible but which he had promised to pay, they report.

He neglected to take out health insurance when he left the White House. He was stuck, therefore, with a $23,0000 hospital bill for his phlebitis treatment. He recently paid off part of the bill with an $11,000 check, which left only $500 in his personal bank account.

He had to rejuggle his San Clemente mortgage to reduce the payment schedule. He is left with little more than an acre in his own name, according to a friend. Nixon became so desperate that he asked his Florida, crony, Bebe Rebozo, to seell Key Biscayne houses just to pay off the mortgage.

Instead, Rebozo is leading an effort to raise $500,000 from the public to purchase the two bayside homes as a nonprofit center for international study. This would leave Nixon a comfortable profit, since he purchased the homes in late 1968 for only $125,527 and $127,800 respectively.

On paper, of course, he is not a poor man. But he lacks the income to sustain his life-style. He is desperately looking for ways to increase his cash flow. He hopes to make a substantial sum, for example, for his memoirs. But a $145,000 advance payment has already gone for reasearch and salaries, says a friend.

Increasingly, the former President is counting upon his hardcore supporters to bail him out of his financial dissiculties. Address cards have been prepared on 300,000 people who have written sympathetic letters to him.

These cards have been turned over to the Nixon Historical Association, which Rebozo formed to buy the Key Biscayne homes, and to the President Nixon Justice Fund, which Rabbi Baruch Korff formed to raise legal expenses. Direct-mail appeals have been going out to the 300,000 names.

The mail that continues to pour into San Clemente, meanwhile, is processed by some 70 volunteers working in shifts of about a dozen at a time.

Of the $100,000 that Congress earmarked for Nixon's transition, interestingly enough, he spent an astonishing $59,721 for stationery. He purchased a huge supply of paper, according to one insider, for the mass fund appeals.

Rabbi Korff acknowledged to us that he sends out 5,000 direct-mail appeals each month but denied using stationery supplied by the taxpayers. All expenses for the mailings, including the envelopes, and postage, is paid by the U.S. Citizens Congress, he said. This is another nonprofit, patriotic group which he heads.

The rabbi said he has promised to raise $1million for Nixon. Of this, $400,000 has been committed to pay his legal expenses , and the remaining $600,000 will be turned over to Nixon to supplement his government allocation.

In touching language, the rabbi described the financial plight of the former President. "He broods about finances all the time." said Rabbi Korff, "Oh, does he worry! It saddens me terribly just to listen to him. He is a very troubled man."

Another close friend confirmed that Nixon is haunted by the memory of his childhood poverty. When he a boy, When he was a boy, his mother used to get up before dawn to bake pies for sale. She scrubbed, cooked and tended furnace so she could stay at a nursing home with an ill son.

Young Richard used to take his turn preparing meals of canned chili, spaghetti, pork and beans and other cheap foods. "There were many mornings," he has said, "when I ate nothing for breakfast but a candy bar."

This experience has driven Nixon harder than most men to seek an affluent life for his family, the friend says.

MEDAL OF FREEDOM: The Adademy of American Poets has proposed Katherine Garrison Chapin,widow of the late Attorney General Francis Biddle, for the Presidential Medal of Freedom. She would be the first woman poet to receive this recognition.

Her nomination has been endorsed by many distinguished poets, including Robert Lowell, Archibald MacLeish, William Jay Smith and Allen Tate.

As Stanley Kunitz, the poetry consultant for the Library of Congress, said of Katherine Garrison Chapin: "Her life and her work testify to a fineness of mind and sensibility and a long pursuit of excellence."

NOTED AND PASSED...

—Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's new book, When the Calf Horns the Oak, should be a blockbuster. Just off the press in Paris, and due to be published in English later this year, the true-life story is said to drop a lot of hot Russian names, including some of the tyrants still in power today. There will be much speculation on what Solzhenitsyn has written about Comrade Mikhail Suslov. Suslov is believed to be one of the most sinister Reds in the Kremlin, and is also considered to be the leading anti-Semite in the USSR. There will be much note-comparing when the book appears.

—Speaking of Communism: it is interesting to read that one of the oldest and most notorious of all the subversive organizations in the country is still flourishing — the "Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade." On February 16 the "Veterans" tossed a $15 per plae "birthday luncheon" for aging Communist Party member Steve Nelson in a posh New York hotel. The "lunch" boasted a list of Sponsors that read like the Who's Who in the Red Front Network in the United States. Wonder how many of the sponsors were working for the FBI and-or CIA? We sure hope that some of our spies were keeping an eye on these self-declared enemies of America.

—If we are to judge by what has been accomplished since they opened for business on January 14, the present members of Congress have to be the most highly overpaid rascals ever elected to office.

BICENTENNIAL RESTORATION

America's Bicentennial is expected to be in sharp contrast to her 100th anniversary in 1876, when Philadelphia staged a world's fair that highlighted the nation's technological progress and prowess.

The 1876 festival awed Americans with such inventions as the 40-foot-high, 700-ton Corliss steam engine, the first electric light and the telephone. For 50 cents, a visitor could have a letter tapped out to a friend on the newfangled typewriter. Women, still largely limited to home and hearth, welcomed the Singer sewing machine and an automatic baby feeder (whatever happened to that?)

Lack of money and rivalry between cities and states have ruled out another fair on the 1876 scale. Present indications are that observances of the Bicentennial in 1976 will, for the most part, skip the wonders of 20th-century technology and concentrate on nostalgia and restoration.

The energy crisis, inflation, recession and other economic ills seem to have given rise to a desire among many Americans to recapture our roots.

In keeping with this mood, one of the nation's oldest firms, Bird & Son, Inc., of East Walpole, Mass., manufacturer of roofing, siding and industrial machinery, has launched a program of providing financial assistance to historical restoration and preservation projects throughout the United States.

Matching grants of up to $5,000 will be considered for any project "designed to improve the exterior of historic properties ... to make them more accessible, understandable or environmentally compatible to the public they serve."

"A ghost town in Utah has as much chance of receiving assistance as a salt box on Cape Cod," says Ralph E. Heim, president of the firm that was founded in 1795. "In fact, we hope that groups from every state and region will apply for funds."

So far, he says, more than 300 requests have been received.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO ENGLISH?

At their annual convention in New Orleans, members of the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE) decided that the new English usage section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test is "linguistically invalid" and should be dispensed with.

As reported by Education USA newsletter, the teachers agreed that the new test attempts to "limit students' linguistic expression to an arbitrarily established correct form."

Horror of horrors. But that's not all. This "superficial concept of 'correctness'" is racially and socially biased, the NCCTE found, because it excludes the dialects of millions of students. This is especially distressing since the new test is used around the country to determine college admissions and placement in English courses.

Shakespeare. Bye-bye Declaration of Independence and Gettysburg Address. Junk everything else that represents an "arbitrarily established" literary standard and "superficial concept of 'correctness.'" And we certainly can't deny anyone college admission just because he don't talk English so good, or expect him to take a remedial rather than an advanced English course.

Whatever happened to the "quest for excellence" the educators were urging on us a few years back? Obviously, it ain't no more.

JUMPING THE SENIORITY GUN

There is certainly nothing illegal about the resignation of Ohio Democratic Sen. Howard M. Metzenbaum and the appointment by Gov. John J. Gilligan of Senator-elect John Glenn to replace him, thus giving Glenn a week or so of seniority over the other incoming freshmen senators.

Nor in the similar case of Sen. Paul Laxalt, newly elected Nevada Republican, who actually beat Glenn by a few days by virtue of being appointed to fill the seat of resigned Sen. Alan Biable.

The prerogative of governors to fill congressional vacancies created by death or resignation is clearly stated in the Constitution. Metzenbaum himself had been appointed by Gilligan earlier this year to finish the term of Sen. William B. Saxbe, who resigned to become attorney general, and many Democrats had begun urging Metzenbaum's resignation in favor of Glenn almost the day after the latter's overwhelming election victory in November.

Indeed, some of them immediately began talking about Glenn as vice presidential and even presidential timber in 1976.

Yet there is something slightly extra legal about the tactic. It is a clever end run around the Constitution, in the spirit if not in the letter.

Glenn and Laxalt were elected by the people of Ohio and Nevada to begin serving in the 94th Congress, which convenes on Jan. 3, 1975, not in the last days of the 93rd. About the only advantages he will gain by his "seniority" will be in the selection of offices in Washington and perhaps a better chance at the committee assignments of his choice.

Metzenbaum had initially resisted the urgings that he resign, arguing thtat it would be unfair to other newly elected senators. It is just that, and it is to be hoped that the Glenn and Laxalt cases will not become the practice, with state parties scrambling and dickering after every election to get their boys down to Congress ahead of the pack.

Perhaps it won't. If anything is difficult to pry loose from Washington it is your lame-duck congressman, who is wont to savor every moment remaining in his term. Perhaps these are special cases.

But it hass been over 10 years since John Glenn first tried for the Senate. That's a lot of seniority that might have been. If the vote of confidence given him by Ohioans in November is an indication of the future, he will be in public office for a lot longer than that. It's too bad he, as well as Laxalt, couldn't have wited a few more days to start.

Security comes in many different forms and most of them are desirable. There is an odd thing about security, though. I is the product of risk — yet risk is the opposite of security. In searching for security, don't go to the people who are looking for the same thing. Go to those who are risk-takers, not security-seekers. To start every business, some man had to put his resources on the line — his ideas, energy, lots of time, and his money, probably down to the last cent. There is never a "sure thing."

PRICE OF OIL SECURITY SURPASSES BENEFITS

The talk now in Washington is all about energy conservation and how best to persuade — or force — Americans to cut their consumption, especially of gasoline.

According to a just-released study commissioned by the American Enterprise Institute, a publicly supported, nonpartisan research and educational organization, one of the most sensible steps the nation could take would be to start stockpiling crude oil to reduce the risks and costs of future oil embargoes.

The United States alone among major industrial nations has no provision for stockpiling crude oil beyond normal inventories, state the authors of "Energy-Self-Sufficienty: An Economic Evaluation," prepared by the Energy Laboratory of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

If the United Staates required oil companies to maintain stockpiles, as do European countries, the costs to the companies to maintain stockpiles, as do European countries, the costs to the companies would rise about 25 cents a barrel. A stockpile that would cover the United States against a one-year embargo by Arab sources would cost about $900 million annually.

But even the cost of a stockpile of sufficient size to hold the nation against an embargo for theee years "compares favorably" with the alternative of trying to develop totally domestic sources of energy.

The basic conclusion of the study is that the cost of security is too high if it is sought solely by eliminating imports. The authors present estimates showing that the two justicications for independence from foreign sources — avoiding oil blackmail and cutting energy costs — are contradictory if the target date is the early 1980s.

"Achieveing U.S. energy self-sufficiency by the 1980s would alsmost certainly mean mnuch higher prices for American consumers than a policy that relied on some imported oil," says project director Edward J. Mitchell.

"In other words, the premium paid for national energy insurance would exceed the cost of the damages the insurance is supposed to protect us against."

IT'S THE TRUTH!

At the time of the Aaron Burr-Alexander Hamilton duel, resulting in the latter's death, it was considered unthinkable for a man to refuse to meet a challenge for such an encounter. However, this event changed the general attitude toward duelling, at least throughout the Northeastern part of the Nation. In the South and West it continued to be an accepted phase of the "gentleman's code of honor" for two or three decades longer.

When the motion picutre, "Tom Sawyer", was planned, the logical location for the "shooting" was Hannibal, Mo., where Mark Twain lived as a boy. That river city, however, had become entirely too modern, so the town of Arrow Rock, Mo., little changed from the boyhood days of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, was selected.

"Enlightened" attention must be paid to the traditional methods of keeping the "books" of business, Robert G. Skinner, partner, Ernst & Ernst, Cleveland told Tax Foundation's 26th National Conference.

NOT UNSINKABLE

One of the greatest maritime tragedies of all time was the sinking of the "unsinkable" Titanic. The contributing factor to the tragedy was no doubt the refusal of hundreds of passengers to accept the obvious fact that their unsinkable ship was sinking -- mortally damaged by a collision with an iceberg.

In some respects, the attitude of people toward today's energy crisis resembles those lost souls on the Titanic. They think they are passengers on an unsinkable energy-based civilization. They insist on riding the ship of energy abvundance at top speed into the twilight of energy scarcity, with no thought to the warnings of knowledgeable people who try to tell them of the figurative icebergs that threaten disaster. Electric companies that advertise the necessity of expanding electric power generating facilities, of increaseing rates to attract investment capital, and to defray the costs of inflation and pollution control while at the same time meeting exploding energy demands are frequently discredited as mere self-interested promoters. The reality of energy requirements that provide the secure hull in which our civilization lives is often discounted -- thanks to the "unsinkable" complex that seems to guide the pens of many writers and speakers when it comes to discussing energy.

Instead of trying to "... mislead the American public into a crisis attitude," as some cynics claim, the investor-owned electric companies and other elements of the energy industries are striving to show that the ship of energy is not unsinkable. That, in fact, intelligent handling is necessary to keep it afloat. Also, it is well to remember that in the case of energy there are no handy lifeboats.

MORE FROM LESS

A leading forest industry official, in describing advancing production technology of the wood products industry, opens up startling new vistas of the future so far as laymen unfamiliar with the forest industryare concerned. Most public attention has been concentrated on what companies are doing solely in such matters as pollution control. In this regard, the timber industry has made substantial progress. It spent $1 billion prior to 1972 in cleaning up mill operations. It will be spending about $1.1 billion in the 1972-1974 period on air, water and solid waste control.

But this is only part of the story -- and a somewhat negative part at that. The main goal of tomorrow's wood products industry is the development of technology which will achieve maximum utilization of every tree that comes out of our forest lands. In short, the idea is to eliminate waste which, of itself, eliminates many environmental problems. For example, today half of the total raw material for the pulp and paper portion of the forest products industry comes from the use of waste materials. As the industry authority points out, "Many of the new mills in the industry ... are designed to use nothing but such wastes." Moreover, new forest technology is rapidly improving wood utilization. In the state of Washington, overall harvest colume during a 10-year period has increased by 46 percent while harvest acreage has declined 8 percent -- in other words, a 59 percent increase in yield of wood per acre has been achieved, largely through the introduction of new technology and equipment to retrieve lumber and plywood from small sized and low-grade material.

Here is an example of how the combination of private enterprise and technology is quietly working toward genuine conservation, wise utilization of resources and an acceptable environment. In achieving these goals, spectacular and costly pollution control projects, worthy as they are, will prove to have little practical, long-run value unless they help us produce, in an economically feasible manner, the amenities and necessities of life that people must have to live in our 20th Century civilization.

Reverse Discrimination? Govt. Survey Shows Black Workers Moving Ahead of Regular Unionists

(Last of a three-part series)

SEATTLE — If ever there will be a national black labor movement voluntarily independent of massive traditionally and preponderantly white unions, it will have begun here.

Of course the competition for construction jobs back Eaast Harlem, Boston, Newark and in the District of Columbia's "Metro" have hit the headlines harder. But here the black community has its own United Construction Workers Assn. over on 14th Avenue functioning as, its leaders say, "the most successful indigenous community job referral center for minorities."

As employment gets tighter, as firms such as Boeing lay off more men, as projects are cut by the government, there is understandable resentment by white workers over having to yield their place on the hiring lines to blacks and Chicanos.

As one crosses this land, no one can ignore that reality. Here in the Northwest the angry are quiet spoken -- but quite outspoken. Actually the director of the United Construction Workers Assn., Tyree C. Scott, is as tough a militant as anyone has covered anywhere. He has led demonstrations, sit-downs, lay-ins and stall-ins. He has defied prison sentences for some of this construction disruption. But basically the association's success is due first to the federal courts, and second, but not least by any means, it is due to the support of the U.S. Labor Department's Office of Federal Contract Compliance (OFCC) of the Employment Standards Administratin, headed by Assistant Secretary of Labor Bernard DeLuey, a former union official.

The OFCC director here works closely with the black hiring hall. Thus it has kept apace of the goals, or quotas, set in Washington.

Displaced white workers -- some of them in government employ but leapfrogged by minority men and women -- bitterly call this "reverse discrimination."

Actually, according to the first statistical OFCC report issued under new regulations, black workers have done better than any other minority in "new hires," as well as in growing proportion of those working for firms which do more than $50,000 worth of business with the federal government.

This newly available report developed by on-site (could also be called on-sight) inspection, shows that in 1974 better than one out of every four "new hires" was a minority worker. The actual figure is 26.4 per cent.

The goal -- or quotta- for 1975 "new minority hires" is 31.2 per cent of all the new hires. This begins to approach one out of every three new workers who will be taken on before Jan. 1, 1976.

So much for the "new hires" by the 655 government-serving firms sampled by the OFCC. In all they employ some 300,000 workers.

There's another socially vital statistic -- the increasing percentage of minority workers among the entire working force of these firms which do federally funded or federally assisted work In 1973 the minority workess held 14.3 per cent of all the jobs. In 1974 the figure was 15 per cent. Under the government's "affirmative action" program this total is expected to reach 17.1 per cent during 1975.

This makes it just a bit better than one minority worker out of every six employes. The quota for 1976 will be higher.

The unique report discloses that blacks fared better than Hispanic Americans. Ther was little change in the employment rate of Orientals and American Indians in the surveyed firms. Because women's jobs remained mostly clerical, the new year's affirmative action program will push them into professional and technical jobs.

But remember, every statistic is a human being -- the ones employed as well as the ones displaced or unable to find work because of the affirmative action under the equal employment program.

Further, the traditional labor movement has another anxiety. Their lawyers have been watching the Supreme Court, to which the NAACP has appealed for a ruling on the legality of what's called the first firing of the las hired where it involves black workers. The action has been brought in behalf of two black Wisconsin bricklayers.

The NAACP is saying, in effect, the old existing seniority lists are not valid since most of the older workers are white. Blacks, they say, were the most recently hired Thusthey are first to be fired during layoffs.

Should the Supreme Court uphold this theory the whole tradition of American trade unionism will be ripped open. We may then see strikes and counterstrikes.

A swift end to the recession would help. But it's been a long time since manna fell from heaven.

Washington Merry-Go-Round
By Jack Anderson

By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON--Richard Nixon, living in lonely splendor in his California seacoast estate, isn't exactly a poverty case.

He has drawn hundreds of thousands of dollars from the taxpayers to help ease the shock of being reduced to civilian status. He collects a $60,000 annual presidential pension. He is attended by aides, at an additional cost to the taxpayers of $96,000 a year.

Yet the former President is deeply depressed over his finances. Close friends say he isn't taking in enough cash to meet his obligations. They claim his personal bank account is down to $5500 and he has only $2,800 left to operate the San Clemente estate until July 1.

Even minor expenditures, such as an eastern trip his wife is planning to take next month, now cause a family budget problem, a friend told us.

Nixon paid off his back taxes with a $284,740 check which cleaned out his reserves, intimates say. He can't afford to pay an additional $148,000 tax debt, which is no longer collectible but which he had promised to pay, they report.

He neglected to take out health insurance when he left the White House. He was stuck, therefore, with a $23,0000 hospital bill for his phlebitis treatment. He recently paid off part of the bill with an $11,000 check, which left only $500 in his personal bank account.

He had to rejuggle his San Clemente mortgage to reduce the payment schedule. He is left with little more than an acre in his own name, according to a friend. Nixon became so desperate that he asked his Florida, crony, Bebe Rebozo, to seell Key Biscayne houses just to pay off the mortgage.

Instead, Rebozo is leading an effort to raise $500,000 from the public to purchase the two bayside homes as a nonprofit center for international study. This would leave Nixon a comfortable profit, since he purchased the homes in late 1968 for only $125,527 and $127,800 respectively.

On paper, of course, he is not a poor man. But he lacks the income to sustain his life-style. He is desperately looking for ways to increase his cash flow. He hopes to make a substantial sum, for example, for his memoirs. But a $145,000 advance payment has already gone for reasearch and salaries, says a friend.

Increasingly, the former President is counting upon his hardcore supporters to bail him out of his financial dissiculties. Address cards have been prepared on 300,000 people who have written sympathetic letters to him.

These cards have been turned over to the Nixon Historical Association, which Rebozo formed to buy the Key Biscayne homes, and to the President Nixon Justice Fund, which Rabbi Baruch Korff formed to raise legal expenses. Direct-mail appeals have been going out to the 300,000 names.

The mail that continues to pour into San Clemente, meanwhile, is processed by some 70 volunteers working in shifts of about a dozen at a time.

Of the $100,000 that Congress earmarked for Nixon's transition, interestingly enough, he spent an astonishing $59,721 for stationery. He purchased a huge supply of paper, according to one insider, for the mass fund appeals.

Rabbi Korff acknowledged to us that he sends out 5,000 direct-mail appeals each month but denied using stationery supplied by the taxpayers. All expenses for the mailings, including the envelopes, and postage, is paid by the U.S. Citizens Congress, he said. This is another nonprofit, patriotic group which he heads.

The rabbi said he has promised to raise $1million for Nixon. Of this, $400,000 has been committed to pay his legal expenses , and the remaining $600,000 will be turned over to Nixon to supplement his government allocation.

In touching language, the rabbi described the financial plight of the former President. "He broods about finances all the time." said Rabbi Korff, "Oh, does he worry! It saddens me terribly just to listen to him. He is a very troubled man."

Another close friend confirmed that Nixon is haunted by the memory of his childhood poverty. When he a boy, When he was a boy, his mother used to get up before dawn to bake pies for sale. She scrubbed, cooked and tended furnace so she could stay at a nursing home with an ill son.

Young Richard used to take his turn preparing meals of canned chili, spaghetti, pork and beans and other cheap foods. "There were many mornings," he has said, "when I ate nothing for breakfast but a candy bar."

This experience has driven Nixon harder than most men to seek an affluent life for his family, the friend says.

MEDAL OF FREEDOM: The Adademy of American Poets has proposed Katherine Garrison Chapin,widow of the late Attorney General Francis Biddle, for the Presidential Medal of Freedom. She would be the first woman poet to receive this recognition.

Her nomination has been endorsed by many distinguished poets, including Robert Lowell, Archibald MacLeish, William Jay Smith and Allen Tate.

As Stanley Kunitz, the poetry consultant for the Library of Congress, said of Katherine Garrison Chapin: "Her life and her work testify to a fineness of mind and sensibility and a long pursuit of excellence."

4-way race develops

MATTHEWS--A four-way race for mayor in the April 1 city election has developed, it was announced Tuesday following the close of filing for candidates. Mrs. A. W. Waggley, the incumbent mayor, is opposed in her bid for a second term in office, by Charles "Shorty" Rhodes, Howard Burns and Tommy Graham.

Carl Shelby is unopposed for a two-year term as ward one alderman. The post is currently held by Tommy Stobaugh , who did not seek re-election.

Jeffery DeLong, Jimmie Burch and Larry Grimes are competing for a two-year term as ward one aldrman. Richard Mills, the incumbent, did not file for re-election.

Clyde Conley and Herman Dunning filed for an unexpired one-year term as alderman in ward two, which has been filled by Delong by appointment.

Aid payments total $154,964

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid County Family Services office disbursed $154,964.30 in February, with $111,996 of that amount paid to families receiving aid to dependent children.

A total of 903 families, consisting of 2,278 children, received checks averaging $124.03 per family, according to figures released by Mrs. Laverne Hadder, director of the office.

There were 962 persons who received either state supplemental payments or state supplemental and supplemental security income. State supplemental payments amounted to $28,426.

A total of 614 persons were listed on the supplemental security income rolls. These persons do not receive a cash grant and are eligible for medicaid benefits only from the state.

General relief funds of $10,414.08 were paid to 151 families of 167 persons for an average check of $62.36 per person.

Medical assistance was provided to 154 persons, who did not receive a cash check and are eligible for medicaid benefits.

Supplemental aid to the blind in the amount of $2,259 was paid to 26 persons, and three persons received nursing care payments in the amount of $600.

Child welfare supervision was provided to 83 children. Equal funds of $634.65 were provided by the New Madrid County Court and state boarding funds for room and board, clothing, medicine, dental care and incidentals for the children.

Food stamp figures were not available.

Beans taken

Norris Edwards, Route One, reported to the Scott County sheriff's department about 1:50 p.m. Thursday that 120 bags of soybeans of undetermined value had been stolen from a truck in his shed.

Each bag contained 60 pounds of beans.

Deputy Vernon "Bud" Jones conducted the investigation.

2 men get 90-days for stealing gas

BLOOMFIELD — "There is too much gasoline stealing going on," Judge Jimmie Trammell told two Dexter men Thursday. "With the price of gasoline today, it is no longer a minor matter and must be stopped." He then sentenced both men to 90 days in the county jail.

Terry Bollinger and Terry Washbutsky had entered guilty pleas when they appeared in Magistrate Court on charges of attempting to steal gasoline from tractors and combines on the John Roland farm south of Dexter.

The men said they ran out of gas near the Roland farm and were attempting to get enough gas to return to Dexter when Roland fired several shots at them. The two men fled on foot but were arrested a short time later at Bollinger's home when the car they left behind was traced to a relative.

Swinton man catches burglar

SWINTON — The Stoddard County sheriff's department received a call at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to come to the home of Terry Hawkins located near Swinton. When they arrived Hawkins had a burgler in custody.

Hawkins said he discovered the man in the house when he arrived at his home. Being held in the Stoddard County jail is Malone Bain, 57, of Bell City.

According to Sheriff Ralph Mouser, Bain will be charged with breaking and entering.

Dexter bakery broken into

DEXTER — Faye's Bakery reported its second break-in of the week Thursday night.

The break-in was discovered early today when the employes arrived and found the front door forced open.

A small amount of milk was the only thing reported missing.

The bakery also was entered in the same manner Tuesday night, but nothing was reported missing.

The total amount of gold that can still be recovered from the earth is estimated at 31,250 tons, more than half of it in the gold fields of South Africa and 625 tons in the United States.

4-way race develops

MATTHEWS--A four-way race for mayor in the April 1 city election has developed, it was announced Tuesday following the close of filing for candidates. Mrs. A. W. Waggley, the incumbent mayor, is opposed in her bid for a second term in office, by Charles "Shorty" Rhodes, Howard Burns and Tommy Graham.

Carl Shelby is unopposed for a two-year term as ward one alderman. The post is currently held by Tommy Stobaugh , who did not seek re-election.

Jeffery DeLong, Jimmie Burch and Larry Grimes are competing for a two-year term as ward one aldrman. Richard Mills, the incumbent, did not file for re-election.

Clyde Conley and Herman Dunning filed for an unexpired one-year term as alderman in ward two, which has been filled by Delong by appointment.

Aid payments total $154,964

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid County Family Services office disbursed $154,964.30 in February, with $111,996 of that amount paid to families receiving aid to dependent children.

A total of 903 families, consisting of 2,278 children, received checks averaging $124.03 per family, according to figures released by Mrs. Laverne Hadder, director of the office.

There were 962 persons who received either state supplemental payments or state supplemental and supplemental security income. State supplemental payments amounted to $28,426.

A total of 614 persons were listed on the supplemental security income rolls. These persons do not receive a cash grant and are eligible for medicaid benefits only from the state.

General relief funds of $10,414.08 were paid to 151 families of 167 persons for an average check of $62.36 per person.

Medical assistance was provided to 154 persons, who did not receive a cash check and are eligible for medicaid benefits.

Supplemental aid to the blind in the amount of $2,259 was paid to 26 persons, and three persons received nursing care payments in the amount of $600.

Child welfare supervision was provided to 83 children. Equal funds of $634.65 were provided by the New Madrid County Court and state boarding funds for room and board, clothing, medicine, dental care and incidentals for the children.

Food stamp figures were not available.

Beans taken

Norris Edwards, Route One, reported to the Scott County sheriff's department about 1:50 p.m. Thursday that 120 bags of soybeans of undetermined value had been stolen from a truck in his shed.

Each bag contained 60 pounds of beans.

Deputy Vernon "Bud" Jones conducted the investigation.

2 men get 90-days for stealing gas

BLOOMFIELD — "There is too much gasoline stealing going on," Judge Jimmie Trammell told two Dexter men Thursday. "With the price of gasoline today, it is no longer a minor matter and must be stopped." He then sentenced both men to 90 days in the county jail.

Terry Bollinger and Terry Washbutsky had entered guilty pleas when they appeared in Magistrate Court on charges of attempting to steal gasoline from tractors and combines on the John Roland farm south of Dexter.

The men said they ran out of gas near the Roland farm and were attempting to get enough gas to return to Dexter when Roland fired several shots at them. The two men fled on foot but were arrested a short time later at Bollinger's home when the car they left behind was traced to a relative.

Swinton man catches burglar

SWINTON — The Stoddard County sheriff's department received a call at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to come to the home of Terry Hawkins located near Swinton. When they arrived Hawkins had a burgler in custody.

Hawkins said he discovered the man in the house when he arrived at his home. Being held in the Stoddard County jail is Malone Bain, 57, of Bell City.

According to Sheriff Ralph Mouser, Bain will be charged with breaking and entering.

Dexter bakery broken into

DEXTER — Faye's Bakery reported its second break-in of the week Thursday night.

The break-in was discovered early today when the employes arrived and found the front door forced open.

A small amount of milk was the only thing reported missing.

The bakery also was entered in the same manner Tuesday night, but nothing was reported missing.

The total amount of gold that can still be recovered from the earth is estimated at 31,250 tons, more than half of it in the gold fields of South Africa and 625 tons in the United States.

today's woman

"more spice than everything nice"

Jacqueline Scott....

'I just like acting. But I don't know why.'

By JACKIE SCHOENEMAN

The late Glenn Strange, bartender on the old "Gunsmoke" TV series, once said in an interview he thought Jacqueline Scott was the best actress to appear on the show because "you could stand and talk to her before the show, then she'd start working but still would be the same person."

In other words, Miss Scott, star of TV, movies and Broadway, has got to be an actess with personality — in down-to-earth style. Why else would friends, relatives and even strangers flock around to greet her when she comes to town? Certainly not becaue they're star struck but struck with Miss Scott's taking time to chat.

In an incident reminiscent of the trials of Jacqueline, she plain ran out of gas in front of Kirby's Sandwich Shop, 109 N. Kingshighway, on the day she arrived in Sikeston.

Just a publicity stunt as "her friends at Kirby's jokingly said?" Not so. "I just didn't have sense to put enough gas in. I had been driving around and didn't realize," she explained.

Miss Scott was in Sikeston Monday to sing and dance a lighthearted routine at the Coalesce Club fashion show at the Ramada Inn.

Busy actresses of not take time off. Right? A few drawing factors may be Miss Scott was born in Sikeston and her mother, Mrs. Maxine Scott, lives at 706 Park Ave. Most of all, Sikeston is her town and has her kind of people.

She says Sikeston is attractive "with its new homes, old streets and wide front yards with leaves."

About the people, "It's the nicest compliment you can receive when you come home and people are so gracious."

Her second home is Hollywood, Calif., where she is Mrs. Gene Lesser when not acting. She met her husband 17 years ago in Hollywood on the set of "Macabre", a horror movie. He was a magazine featuer photographer and she, well .....

"I ignored him completely because I didn't want him to think I was showing off and trying to get my picture taken. So I kept running away and also I thought he was so great-looking."

Lesser is not only her personal agent but also an agent for Maclaine Stevens, star of M-A-S-H, a TV series. Lesser is also the father of their two children, Devin, 8 and Andrew, 10.

And like many mothers, Mrs. Lesser carts her children to school and makes trips to the grocery store where invariably she is recognized.

"They're either very complimentary to me or the condition I'm in when I'm dragging my kids around ... looking like I fell out of back of a truck. I always tell them I'm an actress because they'll go home and it will drive them crazy trying to figure it out.

Or sometimes they're so shocked they say, 'Oh no it's not that. I know I know you.' It's really funny."

Although her sons have the bug afflicting many Hollywood children, wanting to be in TV commercials, Mrs. Lesser tells them, "When you're 17 or 18, you can go to the studio and get a job."

"Never, never encourage a child to do it (act). If he wants to, he will and nothing will stop him. It is too hard to talk somebody into it because it's a highly competitive busineness and to get started you see some very gifted people. It's rough. It's very hard to get that first fjob.

Sometimes vou're better off if you have been around awhile and learned the business because you have to work very fast and enormous demands are made on you. I don't mean to make it sound like it's all awful.

You've really got to know what you're after beyond a certain point. You're constantly learning. I think that's what makes it (acting) interesting. You can grow. It's a challenge and interesting. I like it but I don't know why."

However, Mrs. Lesser does know how she got from Sikeston, Mo., to New York and then to CAlifornia. "I used to sing and tap dance in tent shows (traveling amateur shows). I was doing it when I was three or four so I always won. If you can keep a beat when you're three, you can't lose."

Her main source of inspiration was her aunt, Lucille Cox of Jackson who told her it was not silly to want to act at age 7.

Although she has done many westerns on TV such as "Gunsmoke" and played several farm wife roles, she yearns to do comedy. And why not when you can laugh at yourself as easily as Mrs. Lesser does.

One of her favorite appearances was on "The Planet of the Apes", a TV series where she had to undergo a three-hour makeup call to apply an ape mask.

"I loved working in the masks. But my mother goes 'Yuck.' I hated having them put on and worse, taking them off. They hurt. But they're great fun to work in.

I'm the biggest celebrity at my boys' school. They (her sons' classmates) say, 'Oh, there's Mrs. Lesser. Show us how you walk like that.' There I am in my ape walk, walking around the school yard."

However, she does not always make it to school on time for her comand ape walk performance. One afternoon, about 3:30 p.m., when she and her mother were to pick up the boys at school, Mrs. Lesser received an offer from a studio. She glanced over the script and then went over to the studio for a wardrobe fitting until 5:30 p.m. The rest of the evening was spent memorizing lines and then it was on loation at San Pedro, Calif., at 4 a.m.

Mrs. Lesser says its a standard joke that she receives job offers when her mother is visiting. "My mother has seen all the studios. I go to work and everybody says, 'How's your mother? When she comes back, bring her to lunch.'"

However, Mrs. Lesser says having her children around has made her concentrate more intently on memorization of lines. She used to "fiddle fadele" around.

Socially, she is known as Jackie Lesser and at parties is introduced simply as that — not at those wild Hollywood parties because she claims she does not know where they're at.

Sometimes her husband is called "Mr. Scott" but she says he takes it in stride. In fact, the secret of their togetherness is there is "no competition" between them. "He's my best fan."

She concedes she is quite lucky to retain her maiden name, Miss Scott, as a show business name because no one else in the screen actors guild had first claim to it. Although she is aways called Jackie, she was advised to change it to Jacqueline for added "flair."

But as Jacqueline Scott, Jacqueline Scott Lesser or Jackie Lesser, she simply does not lead a glamorous life. "I lead the life I want to and I feel I'm very lucky. I have a wonderful husband and two — I don't care if I do say so myself — fantastic little boys. I have been fortunate to stay in the business and be away from them very little, the most 10 days.

You have to keep clear in your head what is real. When you're working, you work very hard. And you don't get in that position unless you know what you're doing. But by the same token, the fancy lady you're playing on the show is just a part. It's not what you are."

What keeps Mrs. Lesser going when the responsibilities of home and career clash?

Even more, what makes her say she has been an actress forever and vow she will never retire?

"To me, it is a great skill to take words off a piece of paper and make them into reality. I know how to do this -- the process of making nothing into something something, that is something and do it justice. I just like acting."

Deborah Hutson

Benton woman to wed in June

BENTON — Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hutson announce the engagement of their daughter, Deborah Jean to Larry Ray Naile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Naile of Bertrand.

Miss Hutson is a 1972 graduate of Kelly High School, Benton and is employed as a clerk at Western and Southern Life Insurance Co., in Sikeston.

Naile is a 1970 graduate of Charleston High School. He is employed with Staples Construction Co., of Charleston.

A June 7 wedding is planned.

Miss Gibbons weds

CHAFFEE — Miss Sandy Janease Gibbons and James Richard Foister were married Feb. 22 at the First Assembly of God Church in Cape Girardeau. The Rev. Wayne A. Sullivan and the Rev. William E. Fish officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Gibbons of Chaffee and the bridegroom is the son of Beatrice Foister and James Foister of Cape Girardeau.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over mist taffeta, with fitted bodice, natural waistline andhigh neckline. Her cathedral-length train had a deep scalloped-edged flounce at the hemline. A Camelot cap held a full-plength scalloped lace-edged mantilla.

She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses surrounded by white daisies, baby's breath and greenery.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Claude Curtis was matron of honor. Mrs. Duane L. Bettag, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Dwight D. Gibbons, St. Louis , were bridesmaids. Tanya Curtis was junior bridesmaid.

They wore aqua and purple satin gowns respectively. The skirts were gathered with wide flounces at the bottoms. They wore baby's breath in their hair and carried long-stemmed chrysanthemums and greenery.

Tammy Thrower and Tyler Thrower of Cape Girardeau were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

The bridegroom chose his father as best man. Duane L. Bettag of Memphis, Tenn., and Dwight D. Gibbons of St. Louis were groomsmen. Jeffrey Gibbons of St. Louis was junior groomsman and usher. Rocky Foister of St. Louis also ushered.

The bride attended Chaffee High School.

Foister is a 1974 graduate of Central High School, Cape Girardeau, and is employed as a security guard by Charmin Paper Preoducts Co., Cape Girardeau where the couple lives.

Child's sinus infections require early treatment

GALVESTON, Texas — A child is unlikely to develop sinusitis before the age of two or three, according to a University of Texas ear, nose and throat specialist.

However, children "do go through a period of susceptibility when they enter school," Dr. Byron J. Bailey, professor of Otolaryngology, University of Texas medical branch, wrote in a past issue of "American FAmily Physician."

The major predisposing factors are upper respiratory infections with allergic disorders a close second, Dr. Bailey said.

Sinus infections in children are especially responsive to treatment when given early, in adequate dosages, and for along enough period of time (two weeks), he emphasized.

Treatment may include antibiotics; application of dry heat; use of a nasal decongestant -- neo-Synephrine (phenylephrine); and doubling the patient's usual liquid intake, Dr. Bailey said.

Among the most common childhood complications of sinusitis are lower respiratory infection (bronchitis, pneumonia and pulmonary abscess) and inflammation of the middle ear, he pointed out.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Plug in to care of electric blankets

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Please tell me how to remove crayon marks from a chalk board. I also would like to know how to wash and dry an electric blanket.—P.J.D.

DEAR P.J.D. — Only wash one electric blanket at a time. Wrap the plug with several thicknesses of cloth and tie it securely so it does not scratch the washer. I am surprised that you do not have a tag that came with your blanket giving the manufacturer's directions for washing and, more especially, for drying.

One manufacturer of washers suggests the following general directions when none are available for a particular brand: Pretreat very soiled spots with a detergent. Always use a full tub of water and a liquid detergent suitable for wool. Immerse blanket completely. Agitate it one minute in cool water on gentle speed. Soak five or ten minutes. Allow washer to complete cycle. If put in the dryer tumble ONLY until binding is dry and then remove, shape to original size and finish drying over two lines placed rather close together. When dry brushing will bring up the nap. The entire drying process also could be done over two lines and then the binding touched up with an iron. The following letter may be the answer to your other question.—POLLY.

"more spice than everything nice"

Jacqueline Scott....

'I just like acting. But I don't know why.'

By JACKIE SCHOENEMAN

The late Glenn Strange, bartender on the old "Gunsmoke" TV series, once said in an interview he thought Jacqueline Scott was the best actress to appear on the show because "you could stand and talk to her before the show, then she'd start working but still would be the same person."

In other words, Miss Scott, star of TV, movies and Broadway, has got to be an actess with personality — in down-to-earth style. Why else would friends, relatives and even strangers flock around to greet her when she comes to town? Certainly not becaue they're star struck but struck with Miss Scott's taking time to chat.

In an incident reminiscent of the trials of Jacqueline, she plain ran out of gas in front of Kirby's Sandwich Shop, 109 N. Kingshighway, on the day she arrived in Sikeston.

Just a publicity stunt as "her friends at Kirby's jokingly said?" Not so. "I just didn't have sense to put enough gas in. I had been driving around and didn't realize," she explained.

Miss Scott was in Sikeston Monday to sing and dance a lighthearted routine at the Coalesce Club fashion show at the Ramada Inn.

Busy actresses of not take time off. Right? A few drawing factors may be Miss Scott was born in Sikeston and her mother, Mrs. Maxine Scott, lives at 706 Park Ave. Most of all, Sikeston is her town and has her kind of people.

She says Sikeston is attractive "with its new homes, old streets and wide front yards with leaves."

About the people, "It's the nicest compliment you can receive when you come home and people are so gracious."

Her second home is Hollywood, Calif., where she is Mrs. Gene Lesser when not acting. She met her husband 17 years ago in Hollywood on the set of "Macabre", a horror movie. He was a magazine featuer photographer and she, well .....

"I ignored him completely because I didn't want him to think I was showing off and trying to get my picture taken. So I kept running away and also I thought he was so great-looking."

Lesser is not only her personal agent but also an agent for Maclaine Stevens, star of M-A-S-H, a TV series. Lesser is also the father of their two children, Devin, 8 and Andrew, 10.

And like many mothers, Mrs. Lesser carts her children to school and makes trips to the grocery store where invariably she is recognized.

"They're either very complimentary to me or the condition I'm in when I'm dragging my kids around ... looking like I fell out of back of a truck. I always tell them I'm an actress because they'll go home and it will drive them crazy trying to figure it out.

Or sometimes they're so shocked they say, 'Oh no it's not that. I know I know you.' It's really funny."

Although her sons have the bug afflicting many Hollywood children, wanting to be in TV commercials, Mrs. Lesser tells them, "When you're 17 or 18, you can go to the studio and get a job."

"Never, never encourage a child to do it (act). If he wants to, he will and nothing will stop him. It is too hard to talk somebody into it because it's a highly competitive busineness and to get started you see some very gifted people. It's rough. It's very hard to get that first fjob.

Sometimes vou're better off if you have been around awhile and learned the business because you have to work very fast and enormous demands are made on you. I don't mean to make it sound like it's all awful.

You've really got to know what you're after beyond a certain point. You're constantly learning. I think that's what makes it (acting) interesting. You can grow. It's a challenge and interesting. I like it but I don't know why."

However, Mrs. Lesser does know how she got from Sikeston, Mo., to New York and then to CAlifornia. "I used to sing and tap dance in tent shows (traveling amateur shows). I was doing it when I was three or four so I always won. If you can keep a beat when you're three, you can't lose."

Her main source of inspiration was her aunt, Lucille Cox of Jackson who told her it was not silly to want to act at age 7.

Although she has done many westerns on TV such as "Gunsmoke" and played several farm wife roles, she yearns to do comedy. And why not when you can laugh at yourself as easily as Mrs. Lesser does.

One of her favorite appearances was on "The Planet of the Apes", a TV series where she had to undergo a three-hour makeup call to apply an ape mask.

"I loved working in the masks. But my mother goes 'Yuck.' I hated having them put on and worse, taking them off. They hurt. But they're great fun to work in.

I'm the biggest celebrity at my boys' school. They (her sons' classmates) say, 'Oh, there's Mrs. Lesser. Show us how you walk like that.' There I am in my ape walk, walking around the school yard."

However, she does not always make it to school on time for her comand ape walk performance. One afternoon, about 3:30 p.m., when she and her mother were to pick up the boys at school, Mrs. Lesser received an offer from a studio. She glanced over the script and then went over to the studio for a wardrobe fitting until 5:30 p.m. The rest of the evening was spent memorizing lines and then it was on loation at San Pedro, Calif., at 4 a.m.

Mrs. Lesser says its a standard joke that she receives job offers when her mother is visiting. "My mother has seen all the studios. I go to work and everybody says, 'How's your mother? When she comes back, bring her to lunch.'"

However, Mrs. Lesser says having her children around has made her concentrate more intently on memorization of lines. She used to "fiddle fadele" around.

Socially, she is known as Jackie Lesser and at parties is introduced simply as that — not at those wild Hollywood parties because she claims she does not know where they're at.

Sometimes her husband is called "Mr. Scott" but she says he takes it in stride. In fact, the secret of their togetherness is there is "no competition" between them. "He's my best fan."

She concedes she is quite lucky to retain her maiden name, Miss Scott, as a show business name because no one else in the screen actors guild had first claim to it. Although she is aways called Jackie, she was advised to change it to Jacqueline for added "flair."

But as Jacqueline Scott, Jacqueline Scott Lesser or Jackie Lesser, she simply does not lead a glamorous life. "I lead the life I want to and I feel I'm very lucky. I have a wonderful husband and two — I don't care if I do say so myself — fantastic little boys. I have been fortunate to stay in the business and be away from them very little, the most 10 days.

You have to keep clear in your head what is real. When you're working, you work very hard. And you don't get in that position unless you know what you're doing. But by the same token, the fancy lady you're playing on the show is just a part. It's not what you are."

What keeps Mrs. Lesser going when the responsibilities of home and career clash?

Even more, what makes her say she has been an actress forever and vow she will never retire?

"To me, it is a great skill to take words off a piece of paper and make them into reality. I know how to do this -- the process of making nothing into something something, that is something and do it justice. I just like acting."

Miss Gibbons weds

CHAFFEE — Miss Sandy Janease Gibbons and James Richard Foister were married Feb. 22 at the First Assembly of God Church in Cape Girardeau. The Rev. Wayne A. Sullivan and the Rev. William E. Fish officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Gibbons of Chaffee and the bridegroom is the son of Beatrice Foister and James Foister of Cape Girardeau.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace over mist taffeta, with fitted bodice, natural waistline andhigh neckline. Her cathedral-length train had a deep scalloped-edged flounce at the hemline. A Camelot cap held a full-plength scalloped lace-edged mantilla.

She carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses surrounded by white daisies, baby's breath and greenery.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Claude Curtis was matron of honor. Mrs. Duane L. Bettag, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Dwight D. Gibbons, St. Louis , were bridesmaids. Tanya Curtis was junior bridesmaid.

They wore aqua and purple satin gowns respectively. The skirts were gathered with wide flounces at the bottoms. They wore baby's breath in their hair and carried long-stemmed chrysanthemums and greenery.

Tammy Thrower and Tyler Thrower of Cape Girardeau were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

The bridegroom chose his father as best man. Duane L. Bettag of Memphis, Tenn., and Dwight D. Gibbons of St. Louis were groomsmen. Jeffrey Gibbons of St. Louis was junior groomsman and usher. Rocky Foister of St. Louis also ushered.

The bride attended Chaffee High School.

Foister is a 1974 graduate of Central High School, Cape Girardeau, and is employed as a security guard by Charmin Paper Preoducts Co., Cape Girardeau where the couple lives.

Child's sinus infections require early treatment

GALVESTON, Texas — A child is unlikely to develop sinusitis before the age of two or three, according to a University of Texas ear, nose and throat specialist.

However, children "do go through a period of susceptibility when they enter school," Dr. Byron J. Bailey, professor of Otolaryngology, University of Texas medical branch, wrote in a past issue of "American FAmily Physician."

The major predisposing factors are upper respiratory infections with allergic disorders a close second, Dr. Bailey said.

Sinus infections in children are especially responsive to treatment when given early, in adequate dosages, and for along enough period of time (two weeks), he emphasized.

Treatment may include antibiotics; application of dry heat; use of a nasal decongestant -- neo-Synephrine (phenylephrine); and doubling the patient's usual liquid intake, Dr. Bailey said.

Among the most common childhood complications of sinusitis are lower respiratory infection (bronchitis, pneumonia and pulmonary abscess) and inflammation of the middle ear, he pointed out.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Plug in to care of electric blankets

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Please tell me how to remove crayon marks from a chalk board. I also would like to know how to wash and dry an electric blanket.—P.J.D.

DEAR P.J.D. — Only wash one electric blanket at a time. Wrap the plug with several thicknesses of cloth and tie it securely so it does not scratch the washer. I am surprised that you do not have a tag that came with your blanket giving the manufacturer's directions for washing and, more especially, for drying.

One manufacturer of washers suggests the following general directions when none are available for a particular brand: Pretreat very soiled spots with a detergent. Always use a full tub of water and a liquid detergent suitable for wool. Immerse blanket completely. Agitate it one minute in cool water on gentle speed. Soak five or ten minutes. Allow washer to complete cycle. If put in the dryer tumble ONLY until binding is dry and then remove, shape to original size and finish drying over two lines placed rather close together. When dry brushing will bring up the nap. The entire drying process also could be done over two lines and then the binding touched up with an iron. The following letter may be the answer to your other question.—POLLY.

Ann Landers

Unemployed housewife is myth

Dear Ann Landers: As for that character who wanted to know what inemployed housewives do all day besides shop in the stores and talk on the phone, I'd like to enlighten him. I became an authority on the subject last month when my wife went to the hospital for a hysterectomy. She scheduled the surgery during my annual two-week vacation so I could stay home and take of our children, 6 and 8.

I cooked three unvelievably rotten meals evey day, did the laundry five times, tried to iron a few things, burned a hole in our daughter's best blouse and scorched a couple of pairs of the boy's pants.

Housekeeping was impossible. As soon as I got the place looking halfway decent, the kids and their friends messed things up.

My wife deserves a gold medal. How she manages to keep the house spotless, do the marketing, cooking, washing and ironing, take the kids to the dentist, for piano lessons, sew costumes, drive my mother around, bake cakes for sick neighbors and be active in the American Cancer Society, is beyond me.

I hope you will print this on March 7, her birthday. My so-called "average" housewife is a miracle worker and she deserves to read this letter on that special day.--True Believer

Dear True: Here's your letter--and on the day requested. That sound you hear is millions of women blowing kisses. (P.S. Whenever I hear that phrase "unemployed housewives" I hit the ceiling. Many women work as hard in the house an others do out. Maybe harder.)

Dear Ann Landers: Our nephew, a physician, was recently married to a young woman who has a Ph.D. in history. How should this couple be addressed? We feel that Dr. and Mrs. John Smith is incorrect since the woman is not gettion proper recognition for the title she has a right to be proud of Please inform us.--Status minded

Dear S.M.: Dr. and Mrs. is perfectly O.K. (Maybe she worked harder to get the guy than she did to get the P. D.) If you want to all out, however, you could address them as Dr. John Smith and Dr. Jean Smith, or Drs. John and Jean Smith. If none of these satisfy you, I suggest that you ask them the question.

Dear Ann Landers: In reference to the 2½-year-old hyperactive boy, your advice to seek another medical opinion was good. However, I wish you had suggested a physician trained in neurology and psychology--one who would take the time to do exhaustive tests and find out if the hyperactivity is physical or phychological.

Physicians who lack the training or refuse to take the time to get to the root of the problem often prescribe drugs which can lead todependence or even death if the child has a heart dysfunction. I am not a doctor, buy my friend's 5-year-old is hyper and the first doctor put him on a certain drug. His mother got a second opinion from a specialist. He said continuing on that drug could have been disastrous. Please print my letter.--Northport Reader

Dear N.R.: Thank your for reinforcing my original counsel: "Get another medical opinion." It's excellent health insurance and could spell the difference between life and death.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting--What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The New Madrid Health Department is sponsoring a well baby clinic from 9 a.m., to 12 p.m., Thursday at the Kiwanis Club building on Beech Street in Morehouse. Contact Mrs. Helen Owings at telephone numbers 667-5041 or 667-5023.

Sew with Cotton to have boys class

PORTAGEVILLE — The "Sew with Cotton" program is designed to encourage and provide a meaningful experience for personal growth and development of youth; to increase competence in consumer education and construction skills; and to have a better understanding of the social and psychological effect of clothing on the individual.

Young people must make their garment of 100 per cent cotton and enter in the class most appropriate for their age and ability. Boys have a class especially designed for them this year.

The classes are as follows: Girls class — 10, 11 and 12 years old, skirt and blouse, jumper and blouse, or simple dress; Junior Miss class — First year of sewing, 13, 14 and 15 years old, must use simple pattern, skirt and blouse, simple dress or pant dress with or without bolero jacket; Sportswear class — 13 years old and up, beach wear, shorts and top, slacks and top, pant dress, jumpsuit and pant suit; and Junior miss class — with sewing experience 13, 14 and 15 years old, better dress with or without bolero jacket.

Boys open class — 10 years old and up, make one garment, vest, T-shirt, sport, western or jumpsuit and Misses class — 16 years old andup, pantsuit ensemble, suit (suit must have blouse and jacket) better dress (withor withoutcoat and formal.

Each enrollee must be a home economics or Future Homemakers of America student, a 4-H member or must have a supervisor with knowledge of sewing.

The county judging event will be held on or prior to April 19th at which time three winners will be picked from each class to represent the county at the district program in East Prairie, April 26th.

Counties participating in this program with their county chairwomen are Butler County, Joy Yarbro, Twin Rivers School, Brosley; Dunklin, Mrs. Laverna Moore, Kennett; Mississippi, Mrs. Cerice Miller, Charleston; New Madrid, Mrs. Don Landers, Lilbourn; Pemiscot, Mrs. Helen Lawler, Cooter; Ripley, Mrs. Lena Wood, Doniphan; Scott, Mrs. D. B. Harris, Oran; and Stoddard, Mrs. Heln Myrick, Bell City;

Jewel Grady and Rebecca Nistendirk, area textiles and clothing specialists, University of Missouri Extenesion service, are serving as consultants.

Mrs. Norman Bartmess, Kennett, is coordinator for the rprogram.

In addition to the local sponsors in each county, the district program is sponsored by The Kennett Oil Mill Inc., of Kennett and the Sikeston Cotton Oil Mill Inc., of Sikeston, The Mississippi Valley Oil Seed Processors Association of Memphis, Tnnn., cooperating with the administrators ofthe local high schools and home eocnomics departments andthe University of Missouri Extension Divisions.

Dear Ann Landers: Our nephew, a physician, was recently married to a young woman who has a Ph.D. in history. How should this couple be addressed? We feel that Dr. and Mrs. John Smith is incorrect since the woman is not gettion proper recognition for the title she has a right to be proud of Please inform us.--Status minded

Dear S.M.: Dr. and Mrs. is perfectly O.K. (Maybe she worked harder to get the guy than she did to get the P. D.) If you want to all out, however, you could address them as Dr. John Smith and Dr. Jean Smith, or Drs. John and Jean Smith. If none of these satisfy you, I suggest that you ask them the question.

Dear Ann Landers: In reference to the 2½-year-old hyperactive boy, your advice to seek another medical opinion was good. However, I wish you had suggested a physician trained in neurology and psychology--one who would take the time to do exhaustive tests and find out if the hyperactivity is physical or phychological.

Physicians who lack the training or refuse to take the time to get to the root of the problem often prescribe drugs which can lead todependence or even death if the child has a heart dysfunction. I am not a doctor, buy my friend's 5-year-old is hyper and the first doctor put him on a certain drug. His mother got a second opinion from a specialist. He said continuing on that drug could have been disastrous. Please print my letter.--Northport Reader

Dear N.R.: Thank your for reinforcing my original counsel: "Get another medical opinion." It's excellent health insurance and could spell the difference between life and death.

What's prudish? What's O.K.? If you aren't sure, you need some help. It's available in the booklet: "Necking and Petting--What Are the Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The New Madrid Health Department is sponsoring a well baby clinic from 9 a.m., to 12 p.m., Thursday at the Kiwanis Club building on Beech Street in Morehouse. Contact Mrs. Helen Owings at telephone numbers 667-5041 or 667-5023.

Sew with Cotton to have boys class

PORTAGEVILLE — The "Sew with Cotton" program is designed to encourage and provide a meaningful experience for personal growth and development of youth; to increase competence in consumer education and construction skills; and to have a better understanding of the social and psychological effect of clothing on the individual.

Letters to the Editor

March 1, 1975

Dear Mr. Pippen,

Thank you for the compliments concerning my news reporting. I have very much enjoyed serving as Risco correspondent for The Daily Standard during the past four years.

I, too, regret that economic conditions are forcing cutbacks at the paper, which have resulted in lay-offs of such part-time employees as myself.

I understand the necessity, although naturally I am very disappointed. I believe many of the Risco, Malden, Parma and Lilbourn area subscribers will, likewise, be disappointed in the slight decrease of news coverage in our immediate area.

If, as we all hope, overall economic conditions do improve, I would appreciate your calling on me in the future to resume coverage for our community area.

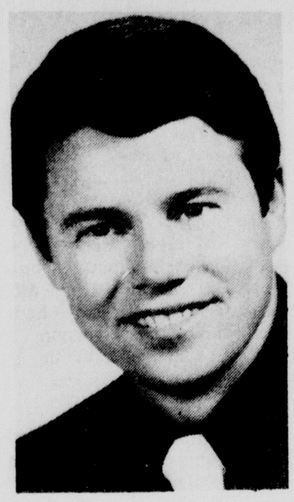

Sincerely,
Patsy Landers

P.S. Perhaps it would be appropriate to include my letter in your Letters to the Editor column, as an explanation to readers who have become accustomed to more thorough coverage in our area. Thank you very much.

Revival Fires team to visit area church

Dr. Russ Martin

Roger Bankson

EAST PRAIRIE — Dr. Russ Martin and Roger Bankson, nationally known team of the Revival Fires Ministry will be speaking and sing Sunday in the 10:30 a.m. service at First Christian Church, 215 S. Washington St., according to the Rev. H. Lee Erwin, pastor.

The Rev. Dr. Martin, for 27 years minister of the largest Christian Church in Oklahoma, First Christian, Miami, is also a veteran sports broadcaster, having logged more than 1,100 football games, also basketball, baseball and golden gloves boxing. Three times he has been play-by-play man on network broadcasts from the Rose Bowl. His daily sports show, in its 25th year, is heard daily on midwest radio at the supper hour.

He is a former president of the North American Christian Convention, in which several thousand churches participate from coast to coast. An inspirational speaker, he leads many large revival crusades every year.

Bankson, a high Irish tenor has been called "one of the greatest singing talents of our time" by TV directors. Reared in Iowa, he is dedicated to full-time evangelism and appears with the Rev. Dr. Martin in numerous rallies and crusades all over the land. He was featured last year in crusades in New Zealand and Australia. Singing with a taped orchestra as background, he will present favorite gospel music.

Both men appear on the Revival Fires telecasts, with a viewing audience each Sunday of some 12 million people, according to the latest Nielson TV ratings.

The Rev. Dr. Martin has been the program's TV host since Cecil Todd launched the Revival Fires ministry nine years ago. He has traveled to 36 nations and shared in crusades in Hawaii and other distant points.

Seminary courses begin next week

BENTON — Seminary extension courses, sponsored by churches of the Charleston Baptist Association, will begin Tuesday at Trinity Baptist Church on Highway 61 North, Sikeston, and Thursday at the associational office, located on Highway 77 four miles east of Benton.

The courses will meet for two hours one day each week for nine weeks and are open to anyone interested in participating in an in-depth Bible study.

Seminary extension credit is available, and persons interested in obtaining credit may do so by registering and completing the course. However, attendance for credit is not required, and persons not interested in obtaining credits may attend for Bible study at their convenience and at no cost.

"The Heart of the New Testament" is the title of the course that will be taught at Trinity Baptist Church by the Rev. Tom Geers, pastor. The class will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. each Tuesday. A fee of $15.25 will include the cost of registration, textbook and study guide for those seeking college credit.

The course, "New Testament Theology", will be presented at the Charleston Baptist Association office and will be taught by the Rev. Eugene Runnels, pastor of Southside Baptist Church in Charleston. The class will meet from 10 a.m. until noon each Thursday, and the fee will be $17.25 for those seeking credit.

Textbooks and other materials are not required, but also will be available to persons not seeking credit.

Both instructors are qualified, having earned master's degrees, and have had teaching experience.

Singers to do encore for PTL group

LILBOURN — The Jerry Haynes Family, a gospel singing group from Malden, will be featured Saturday at the 7:30 p.m. meeting of the New Madrid County Praise the Lord Fellowship in the Lilbourn United Methodist Church.

The PTL Fellowship was initiated last December with an appearance of the Jerry Haynes family, and those who heard them at that time expressed an interest in a return engagement.

The United Methodist Church in Lilbourn will continue to be the meeting place for the New Madrid PTL Fellowship through the month of March. Persons of all denominational backgrounds may attend.

FRIDAY

"Do not judge by appearances, but judge with right judgment." — John 7:24.

"Men in general judge more from appearances than from reality. All men have eyes, but few have the gift of penetration." — Niccolo Machiavelli, Italian statesman.

4 men named elders

During the morning service Sunday at First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, four men received the honor of serving as elders in the church.

The men cited were Raymond Page, 321 Missouri St., for two years outstanding service as a deacon; John Garrett, Route Four, for four years of outstanding service as a deacon; Milton Bixler of Canalou, for 18 years of outstanding service as a deacon; and Everett Aldrich, 845 Lora St., for 23 years of outstanding service as a deacon.

The men are not presently serving on the official board as deacons, but were recognized for outstanding Christian service by the congregation and pastors of First Assembly of God.

As elders, their wisdom and understanding will be available ot the official board, whenever circumstances may call for their advice, and they are recognized as men of prayer and faith who will serve the congregation in praying for the sick.

"The Bible instructs us to give honor to whom honor is due: thus the office of elder was given to these honorable men who are esteemed highly in our fellowship," says the Rev. Loren Wooten, pastor of Firrst Assembly of God.

3 studies to begin at Trinity

The first of three series of extended Bible studies will begin Sunday at Trinity Baptist Church, Highway 61 North. The studies will be taught by the Rev. Tom Geers, pastor, during both regular Sunday services and the Wednesday night service.

During the morning service Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Geers will begin preaching through the Epistle to the Ephesians. In the 7 p.m. service Sunday, a study will begin of the phrase, "in Christ," from Paul's letters. The phrase, or its equivalent, occurs about 150 times in the New Testament.

The Wednesday study, also beginning at 7 p.m. next week, will be a condensed study of the seminary extension course, "The Heart of the New Testament", which will be taught from 7 to 9 p.m. at Trinity each Tuesday for nine weeks by the Rev. Mr. Geers.

Biracial conference set tonight

CARUTHERSVILLE — Baptists in Southeast Missouri will have a united evangelistic conference tonight at First Baptist Church, 801 Ward Ave., according to the Rev. Ira Singleton, pastor, who said the conference is for both National (Negro) and Southern Baptists.

The conference will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature outstanding speakers from both Baptist conventions.

The Rev. Benjamin Carroll (National Baptist), is pastor of First Baptist Church in St. Louis and is well known throughout the state.

Dr. Jack Stanton served in the department of evangelism of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board at Atlanta, Ga., for many years. He is presently a professor of evangelism on the faculty of Southwest Baptist College at Bolivar.

Special music will be provided by First Baptist Church of St. Louis. Also, a youth choir from First Baptist Schurch at Porteageville, known as Genesis, will present special musical selections. Mrs. Diana James of First Baptist Church in Caruthersville and Mrs. Sharon Smith of First Baptist Church at Hayti will be featured soloists.

The evangelistic conference is a part of the interracial program conducted by he Office of Work with National Baptists of the Missouri Baptist Convention in Jefferson City.

Convention speakers set

ANDERSON, Ind. — Leaders of the Church of God, completing plans for the 86th International Convention of the movement June 16-22, have named nine key leaders to address evening mass meetings.

Some 25,000 persons from throughout the United States and numerous foreign countries will participate in the annual event.

Dr. W. E. Reed, convention director, said evening mass meeting speakers will include the Revs. Ronald J. Fowler of Akron, Ohio, Eugene Sterner, David L. Lawson and Kenneth E. Schemmer of Anderson, Herschell D. Rice of Pomona, Calif.; Robert A. Culp of Toledo, Ohio, Gordon H. Schaubel of Edmonds, Wash., Dr. Eugene J. Conover of Portland, Ore., and Willard Wilcox of Ashland, Ky.

Women's Auxiliary Day guests

The Gospel Cavaliers and Mrs. Barbara Stark of St. Louis will be featured guests for Women's Auxiliary Day activities Sunday at the Pentecostal Holiness Church, 328 W. North St. Women of the church will be in charge of the Sunday School program at 10 a.m., and the Gospel Cavaliers will sing and Mrs. Stark will speak in the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services. The Gospel Cavaliers also will be featured with the Jenkins Family and other local singers in a gospel singing program at 1:30 p.m.

Florida lecturer to speak in Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Do you have time enough to do what needs to be done? Is time your slave or your master?

A spiritual dimension to these questions will be explored in a free public lecture to be presented at 8 p.m. March 17, by Paul K. Wavro of Jacksonville, Fla., in the auditorium of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 215 N. West End Blvd.

"What we need isn't more time but a better concept of eternity," Wavro will bring out. "When we think in terms of time, we're accepting limitation and becoming the servant of time. When we think in terms of eternity we're opening consciousness to the unlimited possibilities of man as the Child of God. This makes us the master of time."

Mrs. Paula Hudspeth of Sikeston will introduce the lecturer. Local arrangements for the event are being cooordinated by Mrs. Virginia Frenzel. The lecture is being given under the auspices of First Chrurch of Christ, Scientist, Cape Girardeau.

Drawing on his 30 years of experience in the healing minsitry of Christian Science, Wavro will discuss the solution of a broad range of everyday problems through spiritual means alone.

"Time Enough" is the title of the lecture.

Wavro became an authorized teacher of Christian Science in 1949 and a Christian Science lecturer in 1958. He was traveled widely throughout all 50 states, Europe, the Cribbean, South America, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and Africa.

Prayer

"I in them and thou in me, may they be perfectly one. Then the world will learn that thou didst send me, that thou didst love them as thou didst me." (John 17:23 NEB)

PRAYER: Lord, we come to Thee in lowliness of mind, confessing our sinfulness. We ask that Thy will may be done in us to fulfill the prayer of Thy dear Son, that all Thy children may be joined in perfect unity. Help us to do our share of work in Thy kingdom and be more loving as we draw near to Thee. In the Master's name. Amen.

E. Prairie church has new pastor

EAST PRAIRIE — The Rev. Jesse Lipe is the new pastor of the Full Gospel Church on North Garfield. A preacher for 18 years, the Rev. Mr. Lipe came to East Prairie from Granite City, Ill., where he lived while pastor at Calvary Assembly Church in St. Louis.

His home was in Olive Branch, Ill., and he has been pastor at a number of churches in southern Illonois.

The Rev. Mr. Lipe and his wife Dora, whose home was in Licking, have three children, Charles and Charlotte, both of whom are married, and Ricky, who lives at home. They have been living in a mobile home on the church lot until other plans are made.

Singing program slated

DIEHLSTADT — A gospel singing program will be presented from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at Diehlstadt General Baptist Church.

The Beardsley Family of St. Louis will be featured, according to the Rev. Ralph Marshall, pastor.

THE BIBLE

177. Naboth's Vineyard

Naboth, a man from Jezreel, owned a vineyard near King Ahab's palace which Ahab wanted for himself. Although King Ahab offered Naboth money or better land for the vineyard, Naboth refused to relinquish the land his family had tilled for many generations. When Ahab returned to the palace, he was angry and sullen. His wife, Jezebel, promised that she would acquire for him Naboth's vineyard.

So Jezebel sent letters to the elders of Jezreel in Ahab's name, and she commanded them to call for fasting and prayer. She also instructed them to "Set two men, sons of Belial, before him, to bear witness against him, saying, Thou didst blaspheme God and the king: and then carry him out, and stone him, that he may die." (I Kings 21:10)

Jezebel's instructions were promptly carried out, and the men responsible sent a message of Naboth's death to her.

The first of three series of extended Bible studies will begin Sunday at Trinity Baptist Church, Highway 61 North. The studies will be taught by the Rev. Tom Geers, pastor, during both regular Sunday services and the Wednesday night service.

During the morning service Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Geers will begin preaching through the Epistle to the Ephesians. In the 7 p.m. service Sunday, a study will begin of the phrase, "in Christ," from Paul's letters. The phrase, or its equivalent, occurs about 150 times in the New Testament.

The Wednesday study, also beginning at 7 p.m. next week, will be a condensed study of the seminary extension course, "The Heart of the New Testament", which will be taught from 7 to 9 p.m. at Trinity each Tuesday for nine weeks by the Rev. Mr. Geers.

Biracial conference set tonight

CARUTHERSVILLE — Baptists in Southeast Missouri will have a united evangelistic conference tonight at First Baptist Church, 801 Ward Ave., according to the Rev. Ira Singleton, pastor, who said the conference is for both National (Negro) and Southern Baptists.

The conference will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature outstanding speakers from both Baptist conventions.

The Rev. Benjamin Carroll (National Baptist), is pastor of First Baptist Church in St. Louis and is well known throughout the state.

Dr. Jack Stanton served in the department of evangelism of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board at Atlanta, Ga., for many years. He is presently a professor of evangelism on the faculty of Southwest Baptist College at Bolivar.

Special music will be provided by First Baptist Church of St. Louis. Also, a youth choir from First Baptist Schurch at Porteageville, known as Genesis, will present special musical selections. Mrs. Diana James of First Baptist Church in Caruthersville and Mrs. Sharon Smith of First Baptist Church at Hayti will be featured soloists.

The evangelistic conference is a part of the interracial program conducted by he Office of Work with National Baptists of the Missouri Baptist Convention in Jefferson City.

Convention speakers set

ANDERSON, Ind. — Leaders of the Church of God, completing plans for the 86th International Convention of the movement June 16-22, have named nine key leaders to address evening mass meetings.

Some 25,000 persons from throughout the United States and numerous foreign countries will participate in the annual event.

Dr. W. E. Reed, convention director, said evening mass meeting speakers will include the Revs. Ronald J. Fowler of Akron, Ohio, Eugene Sterner, David L. Lawson and Kenneth E. Schemmer of Anderson, Herschell D. Rice of Pomona, Calif.; Robert A. Culp of Toledo, Ohio, Gordon H. Schaubel of Edmonds, Wash., Dr. Eugene J. Conover of Portland, Ore., and Willard Wilcox of Ashland, Ky.

Women's Auxiliary Day guests

North St. Women of the church will be in charge of the Sunday School program at 10 a.m., and the Gospel Cavaliers will sing and Mrs. Stark will speak in the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services. The Gospel Cavaliers also will be featured with the Jenkins Family and other local singers in a gospel singing program at 1:30 p.m.

Florida lecturer to speak in Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Do you have time enough to do what needs to be done? Is time your slave or your master?

A spiritual dimension to these questions will be explored in a free public lecture to be presented at 8 p.m. March 17, by Paul K. Wavro of Jacksonville, Fla., in the auditorium of First Church of Christ, Scientist, 215 N. West End Blvd.

"What we need isn't more time but a better concept of eternity," Wavro will bring out. "When we think in terms of time, we're accepting limitation and becoming the servant of time. When we think in terms of eternity we're opening consciousness to the unlimited possibilities of man as the Child of God. This makes us the master of time."

Mrs. Paula Hudspeth of Sikeston will introduce the lecturer. Local arrangements for the event are being cooordinated by Mrs. Virginia Frenzel. The lecture is being given under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Cape Girardeau.

Drawing on his 30 years of experience in the healing minsitry of Christian Science, Wavro will discuss the solution of a broad range of everyday problems through spiritual means alone.

"Time Enough" is the title of the lecture.

Wavro became an authorized teacher of Christian Science in 1949 and a Christian Science lecturer in 1958. He was traveled widely throughout all 50 states, Europe, the Cribbean, South America, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and Africa.

Prayer

"I in them and thou in me, may they be perfectly one. Then the world will learn that thou didst send me, that thou didst love them as thou didst me." (John 17:23 NEB)

PRAYER: Lord, we come to Thee in lowliness of mind, confessing our sinfulness. We ask that Thy will may be done in us to fulfill the prayer of Thy dear Son, that all Thy children may be joined in perfect unity. Help us to do our share of work in Thy kingdom and be more loving as we draw near to Thee. In the Master's name. Amen.

E. Prairie church has new pastor

EAST PRAIRIE — The Rev. Jesse Lipe is the new pastor of the Full Gospel Church on North Garfield. A preacher for 18 years, the Rev. Mr. Lipe came to East Prairie from Granite City, Ill., where he lived while pastor at Calvary Assembly Church in St. Louis.

His home was in Olive Branch, Ill., and he has been pastor at a number of churches in southern Illionois

The Rev. Mr. Lipe and his wife Dora, whose home was in Licking, have three children, Charles and Charlotte, both of whom are married, and Ricky, who lives at home. They have been living in a mobile home on the church lot until other plans are made.

Singing program slated

DIEHLSTADT — A gospel singing program will be presented from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at Diehlstadt General Baptist Church.

The Beardsley Family of St. Louis will be featured, according to the Rev. Ralph Marshall, pastor.

THE BIBLE

177. Naboth's Vineyard

Naboth, a man from Jezreel, owned a vineyard near King Ahab's palace which Ahab wanted for himself. Although King Ahab offered Naboth money or better land for the vineyard, Naboth refused to relinquish the land his family had tilled for many generations. When Ahab returned to the palace, he was angry and sullen. His wife, Jezebel, promised that she would acquire for him Naboth's vineyard.

So Jezebel sent letters to the elders of Jezreel in Ahab's name, and she commanded them to call for fasting and prayer. She also instructed them to "Set two men, sons of Belial, before him, to bear witness against him, saying, Thou didst blaspheme God and the king: and then carry him out, and stone him, that he may die." (I Kings 21:10)

Jezebel's instructions were promptly carried out, and the men responsible sent a message of Naboth's death to her.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, March 7, the 66th day of 1975. There are 299 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1867, a patent was granted to Alexander Graham Bell for the first telephone.

On this date —

In 1573, war between Turkey and Venice was ended by the Peace of Constantinople.

In 1724, Pope Innocent III died.

In 1926, the first successful trans-Atlantic radio-telephone conversation took place between New York and London.

In 1936, Adolf Hitler ordered his troops to march into the Rhineland, breaking the Treaty of Versailles and the Locarno Pact.

In 1945, in World War II, the U.S. 1st Army crossed the Rhine River south of Cologne, Germany.

In 1971, the United States sent 1,000 military planes over Laos and Cambodia to support a South Vietnamese drive to cut enemy supply lines.

Ten years ago: Alabama state troopers used tear gas at Selma to break up an attempted civil rights march to Montgomery.

Five years ago: Darkness spread from southern Mexico to the Maritime Provinces of Canada as the moon eclipsed the sun.

One year ago: Striking coal miners in Britain were returning to work, and the London government lifted a three-day work week that had crippled British industry for two months.

Thought for today: The knowledge of the world is only to be acquired in the world. — Lord Chesterfield, English statesman, 1694-1773.

Concert scheduled Saturday

The annual Division III junior high school honor band concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Sikeston Junior High School cafetorium. The band will be directed by Nick Leist of Jackson High School and Tom Cosgrove of Scott City High School.

Division III includes the area from Matthews and East Prairie north to Cape Girardeau and Jackson.

Troyouts for the band were held Feb. 22 at Scott City. The musicians were required to play prepared scales and exercises, then sightread an unfamiliar piece of music. Thirty-three of the band's 98 members were selected from the Sikeston seventh and eighth grade bands.

The band will rehearse all day Saturday at the junior high school in order to present the concert that evening.

The concert will be open to the public, and a small admission price will be charged.

learning. These contests include air conditioning and refrigeration, auto body, auto mechanics, carpentry, commercial art, architectural drafting, electrical trades, industrial electronics, machine drafting, nurses aide and orderly, offset printing, sheet metal, metal arc welding, MIG and TIG welding, oxy-acetylene gas welding and radio and television repair.

The other area is the related area tests, in which students are examined on information related to a specific occupation or employment. These will include extemporaneous speaking, job interview, job skill demonstration, opening and closing ceremonies, prepared speech, specific related information and spelling.

The top three winners of the district events will be eligible to compete in the state contest April 25-26 at The School of the Ozarks in Point Lookout. The top three contestants from each of the six Missouri districts will participate -- a total of 18 contests in each skill area.

The students who place first in state contest events will compete in the national olympics to be held in June in Washington, D.C., and the top winners from that contest will go to Dublin, Ireland, to compete in the international skill olympics.

magician," Judy Douglas, social director at the convalescent center, reported.

With his cartoons, Duncan makes his own personal post cards.

Oil painting is another medium used by Duncan to exercise his imagination. He has been painting "as long as I can remember."

While in Poplar Bluff, Duncan taught art -- particularly oil painting -- from a studio in his basement, although he doesn't quite remember how long he taught or how many students he had.

Most of his pictures are small landscapes -- especially those with small houses among Ozark hills -- or still life drawings of flowers in a vase. And he's speedy, too. In fact, he has turned out so many pictures so fast that he has had to slow down because of lack of room at the center ... and he has only been a patient there since Jan. 10.

Duncan also has sold some of his paintings. One medium used to sell the paintings was a cleaning establishment in Poplar Bluff. The owners had asked Duncan to paint a mural, but when they saw the many small paintings, they decided to decorate that wall with small pictures instead. Soon, that business became an exhibit area for his pictures.

Along with his paintings and cartoons, Duncan is also a poet, although he does not write as many now as he did in his earlier days, during which he earned his title as "Poet of the Gasconade River."

Although his memory for dates of his life's activities often fails him, poems he has read or learned are recalled with no trouble. Duncan can all of a sudden recite a whole poem or several poems, although he has no idea how he learned them or where they came from.

The two poems that follow are but a sample of the many written by Duncan. Read them, and you will also feel his love for the Gasconade and how he earned his affectionate title.

MIGHTY CLOS'T TO HEAVEN

I've never walked the golden shore
In heaven, with the blest,
But I've walked Missouri's Ozark Trails
And to me, that's second best.

Oh, I've never been in Heaven,
Where God's the gracious host,
But I've been down on the Gasconade
that's getting mighty clos't.

HILL-MAN'S HEAVEN

"How far away is heaven?"
Said I, so eagerly;
"How far is it to Paradise,
My friend, can you tell me?"

The hill-man answered proudly-like,
"It's just about a mile;
Lots of folks have asked of it,
I reckon it's in style."

I thanked him and I went my way
across a hill and glade
And lo! when I had walked that mile
I found the Gasconade.

Jackson men hurt in mishap

JACKSON — Two Jackson men were injured Thursday in a head-on collision of two cars on Highway 61 six miles north of town.

The highway patrol reported the collision occurred at 5:40 p.m. when a north bound car driven by Robert Glenwood Auvuchon, 59, crossed into the southbound lane and collided with a car driven south by Michael Willliam Jennewein, 29.

Auvuchon was seriously injured and Jennewein received minor injuries. Both were taken to St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

prosecuting attorney's office will consider filing charges on the person who passed the check, according to Pros. Atty. Jim Moore.

The reason for having the merchant write the letter instead of the prosecutor's office, Moore said, is due to the volume of bad checks being passed. In 1973, Moore's office handled 3,400 letters involving insufficient funds checks.

Moore said a new state law makes it a misdemeanor to stop payment on a check written to a repairman.

The best way to stop the bad checks is not to accept a check unless the merchant knows the signer. If he doesn't know him, Moore said the merchant should get all the information possible, including the persons driver's license number.

In order to better serve our customers we have added another floater for custom applying liquid fertilizer and chemicals.

These floaters do a minimum of tracking in wheat fiels plus an even job of distributing the liquid fertilizer (no streaking).

We also apply dry fertilizer and lime. If you prefer to do it yourself we have rental equipment for both dry and liquid fertilizer.

If we can be of help in applying liquid nitrogen to your wheat or if we can help in any other way we would appreciate the opportunity.

Concert scheduled Saturday

The annual Division III junior high school honor band concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Sikeston Junior High School cafetorium. The band will be directed by Nick Leist of Jackson High School and Tom Cosgrove of Scott City High School.

Division III includes the area from Matthews and East Prairie north to Cape Girardeau and Jackson.

Troyouts for the band were held Feb. 22 at Scott City. The musicians were required to play prepared scales and exercises, then sightread an unfamiliar piece of music. Thirty-three of the band's 98 members were selected from the Sikeston seventh and eighth grade bands.

The band will rehearse all day Saturday at the junior high school in order to present the concert that evening.

The concert will be open to the public, and a small admission price will be charged.

magician," Judy Douglas, social director at the convalescent center, reported.

With his cartoons, Duncan makes his own personal post cards.

Oil painting is another medium used by Duncan to exercise his imagination. He has been painting "as long as I can remember."

While in Poplar Bluff, Duncan taught art -- particularly oil painting -- from a studio in his basement, although he doesn't quite remember how long he taught or how many students he had.

Most of his pictures are small landscapes -- especially those with small houses among Ozark hills -- or still life drawings of flowers in a vase. And he's speedy, too. In fact, he has turned out so many pictures so fast that he has had to slow down because of lack of room at the center ... and he has only been a patient there since Jan. 10.

Duncan also has sold some of his paintings. One medium used to sell the paintings was a cleaning establishment in Poplar Bluff. The owners had asked Duncan to paint a mural, but when they saw the many small paintings, they decided to decorate that wall with small pictures instead. Soon, that business became an exhibit area for his pictures.

Along with his paintings and cartoons, Duncan is also a poet, although he does not write as many now as he did in his earlier days, during which he earned his title as "Poet of the Gasconade River."

Although his memory for dates of his life's activities often fails him, poems he has read or learned are recalled with no trouble. Duncan can all of a sudden recite a whole poem or several poems, although he has no idea how he learned them or where they came from.

The two poems that follow are but a sample of the many written by Duncan. Read them, and you will also feel his love for the Gasconade and how he earned his affectionate title.

MIGHTY CLOS'T TO HEAVEN

I've never walked the golden shore
In heaven, with the blest,
But I've walked Missouri's Ozark Trails
And to me, that's second best.

Oh, I've never been in Heaven,
Where God's the gracious host,
But I've been down on the Gasconade
that's getting mighty clos't.

HILL-MAN'S HEAVEN

"How far away is heaven?"
Said I, so eagerly;
"How far is it to Paradise,
My friend, can you tell me?"

The hill-man answered proudly-like,
"It's just about a mile;
Lots of folks have asked of it,
I reckon it's in style."

I thanked him and I went my way
across a hill and glade
And lo! when I had walked that mile
I found the Gasconade.

learning. These contests include air conditioning and refrigeration, auto body, auto mechanics, carpentry, commercial art, architectural drafting, electrical trades, industrial electronics, machine drafting, nurses aide and orderly, offset printing, sheet metal, metal arc welding, MIG and TIG welding, oxy-acetylene gas welding and radio and television repair.

The other area is the related area tests, in which students are examined on information related to a specific occupation or employment. These will include extemporaneous speaking, job interview, job skill demonstration, opening and closing ceremonies, prepared speech, specific related information and spelling.

The top three winners of the district events will be eligible to compete in the state contest April 25-26 at The School of the Ozarks in Point Lookout. The top three contestants from each of the six Missouri districts will participate -- a total of 18 contests in each skill area.

The students who place first in state contest events will compete in the national olympics to be held in June in Washington, D.C., and the top winners from that contest will go to Dublin, Ireland, to compete in the international skill olympics.

Jackson men hurt in mishap

JACKSON — Two Jackson men were injured Thursday in a head-on collision of two cars on Highway 61 six miles north of town.

The highway patrol reported the collision occurred at 5:40 p.m. when a north bound car driven by Robert Glenwood Auvuchon, 59, crossed into the southbound lane and collided with a car driven south by Michael Willliam Jennewein, 29.

Auvuchon was seriously injured and Jennewein received minor injuries. Both were taken to St. Francis Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

prosecuting attorney's office will consider filing charges on the person who passed the check, according to Pros. Atty. Jim Moore.

The reason for having the merchant write the letter instead of the prosecutor's office, Moore said, is due to the volume of bad checks being passed. In 1973, Moore's office handled 3,400 letters involving insufficient funds checks.

Moore said a new state law makes it a misdemeanor to stop payment on a check written to a repairman.

The best way to stop the bad checks is not to accept a check unless the merchant knows the signer. If he doesn't know him, Moore said the merchant should get all the information possible, including the persons driver's license number.

In order to better serve our customers we have added another floater for custom applying liquid fertilizer and chemicals.

These floaters do a minimum of tracking in wheat fiels plus an even job of distributing the liquid fertilizer (no streaking).

We also apply dry fertilizer and lime. If you prefer to do it yourself we have rental equipment for both dry and liquid fertilizer.

If we can be of help in applying liquid nitrogen to your wheat or if we can help in any other way we would appreciate the opportunity.

Dogs get scare

By DALE A. LEWIS

CAPE GIRARDEAU — In Class 4A Regional action here Thursday night, Sikeston's Hal Presley fouled out with just 40 seconds remaining and the Bulldogs on top 81-69 before the Fox Warriors put together a 10-point binge that fell short at the final buzzer with SHS the winner 81-79.

Prior to that last Fox flurry, Coach "Buddy" Spears cagers had built their biggest lead of the night on the shooting of Mark Eaves, the only Bulldog to hit with any consistency. Eaves finished with 27 points on the night, 12 of them coming in the final quarter that saw Sikeston outscore Fox 25-17 before the Warriorss rallied with the last 10 points of the ballgame.

Sikeston started the weird-finishing semi-final bout ice-cold from the field and sluggish, watching Fox build a 16-6 lead the first five minutes of action. The Bulldogs then came to life long enough to outscore the Warriors 8-4 by the end of the first frame to trail only 20-14.

The second frame was the best of the night for the Bulldog quintet, scoring the first seven points in the quarter to move in front for the first time in the game at 24-23.

The Warriors and Bulldogs then traded one-point leads back and forth until Eaves, West, and Burchfield broke a 28-28 deadlock with consecutive baskets and SHS moved into a 33-28 lead. Combs and Emmalee then combined to forge Fox back into a 36-36 tie before Eaves and Burchfield gave Sikeston's its biggest lead of the first half at 42-36. Fox got the last three points prior to intermission on foul shots to pull within 42-39 at the midway point.

The game's third quarter saw Sikeston reverting to its first period antics as Fox quickly cut down the Bulldog margin to go back on top 45-44. But it proved to be the last lead FHS would enjoy during the evening as Eaves broke a final 48-48 deadlock with 53 seconds remaining in the frame with a 15-foot jumper and the Bulldogs edged ahead 56-52 at the quarter's conclusion.

In the first seven-and-a-half minutes of the final frame, Sikeston kept a lead of anywhere from three to ten points until Eaves put the Bulldogs on top by 12 with just 40 seconds remaining in the contest. At this point Presley fouled out, following by seconds the earliler departure of Vangalee West who also got the limit in PF's.

The Fox Warriors promptly put the full-court press on the Bulldogs and SHS came apart, turning the ball over five straight times on steals or fouls with Fox converting every time to pull within 81-79 with three seconds left on the clock. Last second heorics saw the Bulldogs manage to inbound the ball finally and run out the clock for the victory.

With the win Sikeston will meet Poplar Bluff in the 4A Regional Championship game tonight at 7:30 at Houck Fieldhouse in Cape. The Mules were an upset winner over Central prior to the Sikeston game 59-57. It will be the third meeting of the year between the two schools, Sikeston winning the first two by comfortable margins.

"Ray-less" Cape Central couldn't put humpty-dumpty back together again as the Tigers ended a totally soured season by losing their 4A Regional semi-final bout to arch-rival Poplar Bluff 59-57.

Cape gradually forged a seven-point lead through three quarters Thursday night, mainly via a 15-3 advantage from the charity stripe. But Poplar Bluff picked the Tigers apart in the fourth frame 18-9 for the upset win.

Bierschwal and Dement led their respective teams with 18 points apiece. The Mules won the game from the field, outshooting the Tigers 27-21 from the floor.

Poplar Bluff and Sikeston tangle tonight in the 4A Regional title game with the winner gaining the state's play-offs.

Charleston high school coach Mitch "The Switch" Haskins is a busy man. The Bluejays first year head mentor leads CHS into the schools first state tournament finals appearance this weekend in Columbia.

Charleston faces tough assignment

For the first time in Charleston High School's history, the Bluejays are in the finals of a state tournament. The shakes, quivers, and all, CHS continued at peak form Wednesday night in downing a highly rated Lutheran South quintet 71-54 in quarterfinal action to win the trip to Columbia as one of the top four teams in the State's Class 3A division. And the Bluejays are doing it all with first-year Coach Mitch Haskins at the switch pulling out all stops on the CHS victory trail that started bleakly last December but has improved daily ever since.

Charleston goes to Columbia for a 7:05 p.m. Friday night semi-final game against Clayton who upset the defending stae Class 3A Champ, Owensville, in a quarterfinal match Wednesday 53-48. Clayton will pit their 28-2 season's log against Charleston's 27-4 in a battle royal for the right to be in Saturday's Championship game.

According to some observers, the Greyhounds boast one of the state's finest defensive units, allowing an average of 52.4 points per game to be scored against them.

Clayton uses a devastating full-court press and with all five starters at 6-feet or over, the St. Louis County school has been virtually unbeatable. The two games the Greyhounds have lost this season came in the Normandy Tournament earlier in the year and by a grand total of only 8 points, 60-59 to St. Charles and 57-50 to Afton. Offensively, the Greyhounds are a bit weak, leaning to 6-foot-4 Junior Postman Dan Ahearn for the inside game and 6-foot Senior Guard Tom Berry for the outside shooting. Lance Adzigk at 6-3 and Chuck Tucker at 6-1 gives Clayton rebounding power underneath along with Ahearn, while 6-1 guard Lamont Lofton keys the oft-used Clayton fast-break. The Greyhounds are said to be very quick all around and are capable of blowing another team out if they're allowed to run on them

Charleston in comparison looks to have more firepower than Clayton and perhaps better rebounding in jumping ability if not height. If the Bluejays can stay cool against Clayton's full-court press, Charleston should own the semi-final.

Panthers on friendly court

COLUMBIA — "D"-Day is here! State Championship time again with Class 2A semi-finals underway or over by the time this paper is picked up. For the Lilbourn faithful, the hope is for "P"-day, "Panther-Day" in the championship game Saturday night. The defending state champs met St. Joseph LaBlond this afternoon in the first semi-final game, and put their 30 & 0 record on the line against LaBlond's 24 & 5 mark. St. Joe reached the semi-final bout with an impressive 68-49 quarterfinal win over Fayette, while Lilbourn was running away from Arcadia Valley 89-69.

Those scores are indicative of the type of play employed by each unit. Lilbourn, an aggressive, hot-shooting club. SJLHS defensively- minded and deliberate.

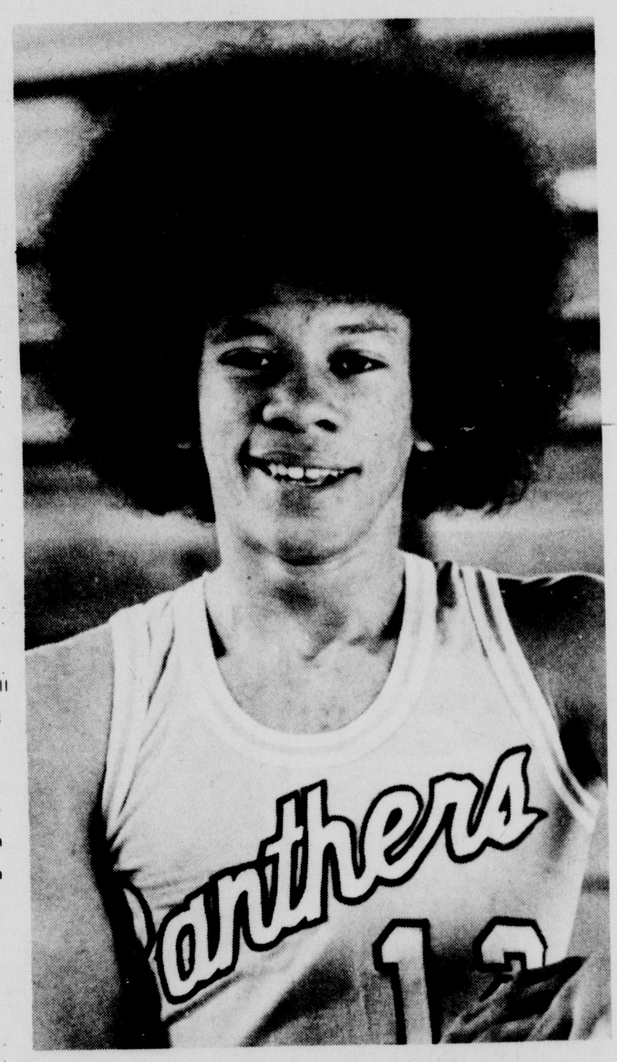

The Panthers play fair defense but are best at hitting from anywhere on the floor, led by Frankie Robinson, Ernest McFerren, Archie Boyd, Detral Treadwell, and Dan Treadwell, who can all hit for double-figures anytime.

Bob Phelps

LaBlond's offense lays in the hands of the Slankey brothers, Joe and Jeff, who hit for 16 and 18 points respectively against Fayette and are backed by Dale Beahlicle who also posted 18 against their quarterfinal opponent.

Semi-final games in Class 2 A were set for 1:35 p.m. and 3:05 p.m. this afternoon at Hearnes Fieldhouse in Columbia with the Championship game Saturday at 7:05 p.m. A consolation game will be at 1:35 p.m. Saturday for the semi-final losers.

Charleston high school coach Mitch "The Switch" Haskins is a busy man. The Bluejays first year head mentor leads CHS into the schools first state tournament finals appearance this weekend in Columbia.

Charleston faces tough assignment

For the first time in Charleston High School's history, the Bluejays are in the finals of a state tournament. The shakes, quivers, and all, CHS continued at peak form Wednesday night in downing a highly rated Lutheran South quintet 71-54 in quarterfinal action to win the trip to Columbia as one of the top four teams in the State's Class 3A division. And the Bluejays are doing it all with first-year Coach Mitch Haskins at the switch pulling out all stops on the CHS victory trail that started bleakly last December but has improved daily ever since.

State tourney pairings

The Class AA and AAA state tournaments tiped off action at the Hearnes Multipurpose field house on the campus of the University of Missouri at 1:35 p.m. today with two Southeast Missouri quintets among the four finalest in each division.

The class AA event seems stronger, if the Missouri Stae Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association final ratings are any indication. The first, third, sixth and ninth ranked teams are among the four finalest while the eight and 10 rated quintets are the only teams listed among the poll in the final four of class AAA.

Lilbourn, defending class AA state champs, storming to their 41st straight victory and 30 on the season Wednesday night, heads into its 1:35 p.m. clash against the states third rated Bishop LaBlond after having defeated the second ranked team in the Illmo-Scott City Regional. On the other side of the bracket, Rogersville Logan pits its sixth rating against ninth ranked St. James.

In Class AAA, only eighth ranked Clayton of St. Louis and 10th rated Columbia Rickbridge are among the four finalest along with non-ranked Charleston and St. Joseph Lafayette.

Charleston, Southeast Missouri's representative plays Clayton at 7:05 p.m. Columbia battles St. Joe at 8:35 in the other semifinal encounter.

With the able assistance of former Daily Standard sports reporter, David McClarty, this scribe will hopefully make it to Tiger Town after departing at midnight Thursday.

Dial Telenews --- 471-6666--- for up to the quarter results and then read Saturday mornings edition of the complete happenings of Friday's battle.

The both of us go to Columbia with high hopes of bringing both clubs through the tough field and returning a pair of first place prizes to the capital of Missouri basketball --- Southeast Missouri. We stand a great chance next week also with our class A representative and our AAAA team could provide some surprises. This could very well be the year of complete dominance by the Bootheel "hillbillies."

This final note should break many a female heart, but this single reporter has finally found the woman of his life --- So please all you female fans stop shorting out the switch board at the telephone office because a beautiful blond, blue-eyed beauty has caught this scribes' heart and will shortly lead him down the isle --- isn't that right Betty?????

Let's all get behind our local teams and this scribe wishes them the best....

See ya in Columbia.

Braves take Tigers, 68-61

BLOOMFIELD — The Scott Central Braves had to come from behind to defeat the Risco Tigers 68-61 and the North Pemiscot Mustangs overpowered the Bloomfield Wildcats 74-42 in the semi-finals of the class 1A regional tournament here Thursday night.

Coach Stan Whitson's RHS Tigers bolted to a 20-9 first period lead and led 33-23 at the half and looked safely home with the victory, but the SCCHS Braves never gave up and came out in the second half with a press and knocked off four points off the Tiger lead and took command of the game in the fourth period outscoring RHS 25-12.

Risco outshot the Braves 27-26 from the field but coach Ronnie Cookson's team hit 16 free throws to seven for Risco.

Ricky Thomas did most of the offensive damage to the Tigers with 20 points. Steven Landers and Steve Patterson scored 19 apiece for the Tigers.

North Pemiscot, ranked fifth in the state, had no trouble with the Wildcats as the Mustangs defense took charge of the game in the first period and ran up a 21-8 lead and coasted the rest of the way. The Mustangs hit 30 shots from the field to 18 for Bloomfield.

In Friday's final at Bloomfield the SCCHS Braves will tangle with the NPHS Mustangs at 7:30 p.m. for the right to enter the state tournament beginning Monday night.

AHS in finals

ZALMA — The Delta Bobcats and the Advance Hornets will battle for the class 1A regional championship and the right to enter the state tournament Monday night at Bloomfield here Friday night by taking victories in the semi-finals Thursday night. Delta won easily over Ellington 65-51 and Advance had little trouble downing Viburnum 59-46.

The Ellington Whippets lost two starting guards at the start of the regional because of disciplinary problems and didn't have enough of a team left to play with the fast moving Bobcats. Deltas' press defense kept the Whippets off stride all night and their speed kept the team from Ellington running until they finally gave out.

Delta took a 17-13 first period lead and outscored the Whippets 18-7 in the second period to put the game away. Lemons scored 19 to lead the Bobcats and Foster hit 24 for Ellington.

Advance and Delta will be playing each other in the finals of the regional tournament for the second consecutive year and for the third time this season with Advance having won all three times previously. The Hornets have won their regional three straight years.

The game Thursday pitted the Hornets' team offense against a two man offense of Viburnum. VHS used a man to man defense against the Hornets with good effect after the first period but the Horntes' press forced enough turnovers to allow Advance to grab a 23-14 first period lead.

Viburnum came out and hit five straight buckets in the first period but the Hornets defense tightened up and VHS began to fall behind and never did get any closer than nine points the rest of the game. Mike Anderson was high for VHS with 20 points. David Tropf led the Hornets with 15, Joe Cummins hit 15 and Royce Yount scored 13. Ron Oller ended the doubled figure players with 10.

Copeland among top MU golfers

COLUMBIA — Coach Al Chandler and his Missouri golf team will head south for their spring training session next week in hopes of initiating what potentially could be one of Mizzou's best seasons on the links in recent years.

"We have as solid a team as we've had over the past several years," says Chandler. "The 1972 team might have been the only other one with more potential."

Chandler can count on his three top golfers from a year ago in Johnnie Johnson, Fred Copeland of New Madrid and walk-on Mike McCulla. Johnson and Copeland had the two best stroke averages last spring. In addition, Chandler will call on three-year letterman Tim Boyd along with two other lettermen, Jim Gevecker and Russ Trippensee, and two top freshmen in Danny Decker and Dee Sanders.

The Tiger golfers will be in Jasper, Texas from March 8-15 and will also participate in the Noel W. Bird Memorial Tournament there. Missouri captured the tourney last March, with Johnson finishing as the meet's top individual scorer.

"We are the only team I know of that goes to spring training as such," says Chandler. "Everybody goes some place to play a tournament, but we go some place to learn."

Pitcher Jerry Reuss won 16 games for the 1974 Pittsburgh Pirates, matching his 1973 total with the Houston Astros.

Manager Billy Martin of the Texas Rangers made 33 hits in 28 World Series games over five years for a .333 Series batting average.

State tourney pairings

The Class AA and AAA state tournaments tiped off action at the Hearnes Multipurpose field house on the campus of the University of Missouri at 1:35 p.m. today with two Southeast Missouri quintets among the four finalest in each division.

The class AA event seems stronger, if the Missouri Stae Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association final ratings are any indication. The first, third, sixth and ninth ranked teams are among the four finalest while the eight and 10 rated quintets are the only teams listed among the poll in the final four of class AAA.

Lilbourn, defending class AA state champs, storming to their 41st straight victory and 30 on the season Wednesday night, heads into its 1:35 p.m. clash against the states third rated Bishop LaBlond after having defeated the second ranked team in the Illmo-Scott City Regional. On the other side of the bracket, Rogersville Logan pits its sixth rating against ninth ranked St. James.

In Class AAA, only eighth ranked Clayton of St. Louis and 10th rated Columbia Rickbridge are among the four finalest along with non-ranked Charleston and St. Joseph Lafayette.

Charleston, Southeast Missouri's representative plays Clayton at 7:05 p.m. Columbia battles St. Joe at 8:35 in the other semifinal encounter.

With the able assistance of former Daily Standard sports reporter, David McClarty, this scribe will hopefully make it to Tiger Town after departing at midnight Thursday.

Dial Telenews --- 471-6666--- for up to the quarter results and then read Saturday mornings edition of the complete happenings of Friday's battle.

The both of us go to Columbia with high hopes of bringing both clubs through the tough field and returning a pair of first place prizes to the capital of Missouri basketball --- Southeast Missouri. We stand a great chance next week also with our class A representative and our AAAA team could provide some surprises. This could very well be the year of complete dominance by the Bootheel "hillbillies."

This final note should break many a female heart, but this single reporter has finally found the woman of his life --- So please all you female fans stop shorting out the switch board at the telephone office because a beautiful blond, blue-eyed beauty has caught this scribes' heart and will shortly lead him down the isle --- isn't that right Betty?????

Let's all get behind our local teams and this scribe wishes them the best....

See ya in Columbia.

AHS in finals

ZALMA — The Delta Bobcats and the Advance Hornets will battle for the class 1A regional championship and the right to enter the state tournament Monday night at Bloomfield here Friday night by taking victories in the semi-finals Thursday night. Delta won easily over Ellington 65-51 and Advance had little trouble downing Viburnum 59-46.

The Ellington Whippets lost two starting guards at the start of the regional because of disciplinary problems and didn't have enough of a team left to play with the fast moving Bobcats. Deltas' press defense kept the Whippets off stride all night and their speed kept the team from Ellington running until they finally gave out.

Delta took a 17-13 first period lead and outscored the Whippets 18-7 in the second period to put the game away. Lemons scored 19 to lead the Bobcats and Foster hit 24 for Ellington.

Advance and Delta will be playing each other in the finals of the regional tournament for the second consecutive year and for the third time this season with Advance having won all three times previously. The Hornets have won their regional three straight years.

The game Thursday pitted the Hornets' team offense against a two man offense of Viburnum. VHS used a man to man defense against the Hornets with good effect after the first period but the Horntes' press forced enough turnovers to allow Advance to grab a 23-14 first period lead.

Viburnum came out and hit five straight buckets in the first period but the Hornets defense tightened up and VHS began to fall behind and never did get any closer than nine points the rest of the game. Mike Anderson was high for VHS with 20 points. David Tropf led the Hornets with 15, Joe Cummins hit 15 and Royce Yount scored 13. Ron Oller ended the doubled figure players with 10.

Braves take Tigers, 68-61

BLOOMFIELD — The Scott Central Braves had to come from behind to defeat the Risco Tigers 68-61 and the North Pemiscot Mustangs overpowered the Bloomfield Wildcats 74-42 in the semi-finals of the class 1A regional tournament here Thursday night.

Coach Stan Whitson's RHS Tigers bolted to a 20-9 first period lead and led 33-23 at the half and looked safely home with the victory, but the SCCHS Braves never gave up and came out in the second half with a press and knocked off four points off the Tiger lead and took command of the game in the fourth period outscoring RHS 25-12.

Risco outshot the Braves 27-26 from the field but coach Ronnie Cookson's team hit 16 free throws to seven for Risco.

Ricky Thomas did most of the offensive damage to the Tigers with 20 points. Steven Landers and Steve Patterson scored 19 apiece for the Tigers.

North Pemiscot, ranked fifth in the state, had no trouble with the Wildcats as the Mustangs defense took charge of the game in the first period and ran up a 21-8 lead and coasted the rest of the way. The Mustangs hit 30 shots from the field to 18 for Bloomfield.

In Friday's final at Bloomfield the SCCHS Braves will tangle with the NPHS Mustangs at 7:30 p.m. for the right to enter the state tournament beginning Monday night.

Sparky Anderson is in his sixth year as manager of the Cincinnati Reds. His teams played in the 1970 and 1972 World Series.

Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets played 188 minor league games before joining the New York Yankees in 1946.

Coach Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Reds hit three home runs for the Chicago White Sox in the 1959 World Series.

Jimmy Crowson watches Mark Wade stretch for the roundball during public time at the Sikeston Senior High Fieldhouse Monday night.

Copeland among top MU golfers

COLUMBIA — Coach Al Chandler and his Missouri golf team will head south for their spring training session next week in hopes of initiating what potentially could be one of Mizzou's best seasons on the links in recent years.

"We have as solid a team as we've had over the past several years," says Chandler. "The 1972 team might have been the only other one with more potential."

Chandler can count on his three top golfers from a year ago in Johnnie Johnson, Fred Copeland of New Madrid and walk-on Mike McCulla. Johnson and Copeland had the two best stroke averages last spring. In addition, Chandler will call on three-year letterman Tim Boyd along with two other lettermen, Jim Gevecker and Russ Trippensee, and two top freshmen in Danny Decker and Dee Sanders.

The Tiger golfers will be in Jasper, Texas from March 8-15 and will also participate in the Noel W. Bird Memorial Tournament there. Missouri captured the tourney last March, with Johnson finishing as the meet's top individual scorer.

"We are the only team I know of that goes to spring training as such," says Chandler. "Everybody goes some place to play a tournament, but we go some place to learn."

Pitcher Jerry Reuss won 16 games for the 1974 Pittsburgh Pirates, matching his 1973 total with the Houston Astros.

Manager Billy Martin of the Texas Rangers made 33 hits in 28 World Series games over five years for a .333 Series batting average.

YOUR LIVESTOCK FEEDING EXPERIENCE CAN PAY OFF

If you enjoy discussing livestock feeding problems with people you know, we should get acquainted. My company, a nationally known and well-respected feed manufacturer, is seeking a person of mature judgement and good reputation for sales and service representative here. This is not a fly-by-night, high-pressure sales job. Full-time opportunity for service-minded self-starter who can assume responsibility, make decisions, and be own boss. Home every night. I'll explain employee benefits, technical on-the-job training in local territory and financial requirements in confidential interview. Contact Box 926 Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

FARM-OWNERS

Heard about the State Farm Farmowners Policy? It'll give you all the protection you'll probably ever need for your house, your farm buildings, your combines, your tractors, your plows, your corn pickers, your wagons, your front loaders, your livestock and your saddle horses. It even covers you, in case of liability lawsuits. Call me today.

Afraid You're Going Deaf?

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement. Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Call 334-4200 for information or Write Beltone Hearing Aid Center, 1901 Broadway, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701.

FARM-OWNERS

Heard about the State Farm Farmowners Policy? It'll give you all the protection you'll probably ever need for your house, your farm buildings, your combines, your tractors, your plows, your corn pickers, your wagons, your front loaders, your livestock and your saddle horses. It even covers you, in case of liability lawsuits. Call me today.

Afraid You're Going Deaf?

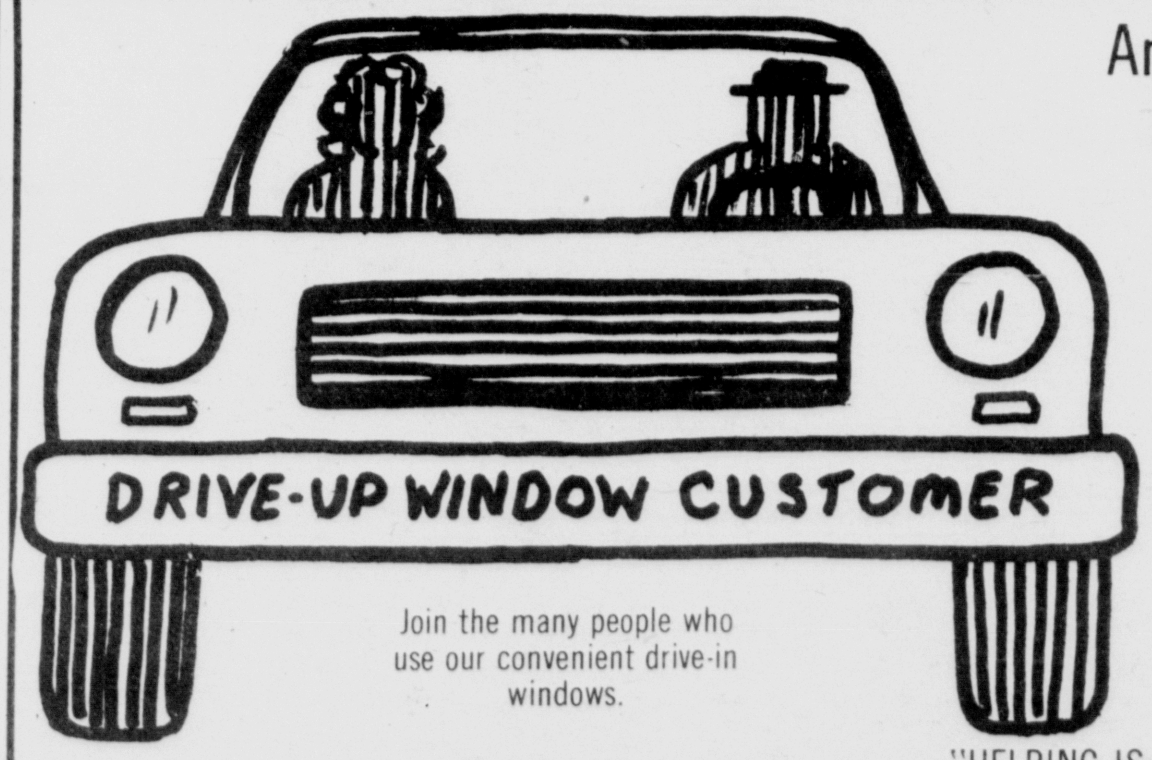

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement. Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Call 334-4200 for information or Write Beltone Hearing Aid Center, 1901 Broadway, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701.

CRITICISM mounts against Argentine President Maria Estela Peron's private secretary who many have likened to a 20th-century Rasputin by isolating the president from political leaders. A magazine urging the resignation of the secretary, Jose Lopez Rega, who also served Mrs. Peron's husband, has been ordered closed by the government.
